6 Injured In Crash Near Ashland

VICTIMS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL IN NEW LONDON

Four Bellevue Women Hurt as Cars Collide at Road Intersection.

GREENWICH MAN DIES

Manufacturer Fatally Injured In Automobile Accident While in Boston.

Six persons were in New London hospital today, at least three seriously injured, as the result of an automobile collision at the intersection of routes 250 and 224, near Ashland, shortly after 8 a. m. today.

New London hospital attaches said at noon today that the victims, four of them women, suffered severe lacerations and that some of them were injured internally.

At Greenwich, friends were advised of the death of Louis T. Meyerson, fatally injured yesterday in a traffic accident in Boston, Mass. Meyerson was a resident of Greenwich, and president of a manufacturing company there.

In the accident near Ashland, the most seriously injured was Lester Cowie, 24, of New London, who received severe lacerations of the head and internal injuries. His condition was described as "serious."

Riding in the same car with Cowie and also injured was Cliff Cowie, 55, New London, treated for severe cuts and shock.

All Bellevue Residents.

Riding in the other car were Mrs. J. G. Odgers, 34, Mrs. C. H. Hakes, 40, Mrs. Otto Harpster, 34, and Mrs. O. C. Kaufman, 48, all of Bellevue.

All were taken to the New London hospital where they were treated for severe lacerations and body bruises. The four women, who were apparently on a pleasure drive, were held at the hospital for x-rays and further observation.

New London hospital officials said that it was feared that some of the women suffered internal injuries. All were treated for shock.

Highway patrolmen were still investigating the accident at noon

Richland to Be Debt-Free Next Tuesday

Check for Last $9,000 Bond to Be Delivered to Mansfield Bank.

Richland county will be free of debt next Tuesday for the first time in 30 years

The final county bond, for approximately $9,000, will be retired Oct. 1 with County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe delivering a check for the balance of the debt to a Mansfield bank. Payment of the final bond will make the county one of the few in Ohio without a public debt.

Not since 1910 has the county been debt-free. The county debt reached an all-time high of $2,250,000 in 1925. Except for relief bonds, which are actually an obligation against the state, the county has issued no bonds in the past five years.

The county has $30,000 outstanding in relief bonds now, but they will be retired from state public utility excise tax funds within the next four years, Auditor Wolfe said.

The county's tax rate for debt purposes has dropped steadily since 1925 as the bonds retired. The huge debt at that time required more than $100,000 a year for interest alone. Ten years ago the debt had been cut to $1,585,000.

Most of the big debt of the 1920's was incurred when the county's secondary road system was built, the auditor said. For a number of years while the debt obligation was heavy the county had a one-mill levy to provide road funds. It literally kept the county's head above water, since so heavy a drain on county funds for interest would have seriously crippled the county financial set-up, the auditor pointed out.

Wolfe said the county would continue its policy of not issuing new bonds without a vote of the people. The principal reason for that policy, he said, is that any new debts incurred by the county commissioners would have to be financed from the 2.5 mills county operations levy which would handicap operations of the county government.

Under the 10-mill tax limitation, set up several years ago by the state, the rate cannot be increased without a popular vote.

'No Use for Those Who Seek to Attack Democracy'—Bevis.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— "Don't be ashamed of a little enthusiasm, of displaying a little patriotism," Dr. Howard L. Bevis, Ohio State university president, told nearly 3,400 freshmen last night.

"We want you to learn all you want to about all kinds of government—if you are interested," the news president said.

"But we do not have much use for those who would seek to tear down the last great stronghold of democracy in this world on fire."

Crowd Jams 'Ghost' Street On First Night of Festival

Crowds milled about Mansfield's one-time "ghost" street last night as Fourth street merchants in a three-block area opened their four-day festival in celebration of completion of paving work in that section of the street.

It was estimated that more than 3,500 persons visited the carnival attractions erected on the blocks between Diamond street and Mulberry.

Despite the cold, which cut through fall clothing, the streets were crowded and many were still on the amusement rides at 11 p. m. Stores along Fourth street, which remained open during the evening, were filled with people and carnival concessions operators reported doing a "good business."

Senior High school band, which will receive the local profits from the street fair, gave a concert from 7:30 to 9 p. m., and the Bellville band traveled along the midway, playing as it went.

One of the free attractions, Prince Nelson who is said to have made five trips over Niagara Falls on a tight wire, did not appear last night because his equipment could not be installed yesterday owing to the rain. The wire will be set today, stretching above Fourth street between the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank building and the Bowers building on the south side. He will appear once today at 10 p. m. and twice tomorrow at 8 and 10:30 p. m. 10:30 p. m.

George Satterlee, chairman of the festival committee, said he was well pleased with [illegible] crowd, but anticipated a much larger crowd tonight.

MERCURY DROPS BELOW FREEZING

Jack Frost Nips Vegetables, Corn; Ice Reported In Some County Areas.

The tomatoes and cabbages were nipped last night by Jack Frost.

With the mercury dropping to 30 degrees, two below freezing, the heaviest frost of the season covered Richland county area early today and thin ice was reported in a number of communities in the county.

Although many vegetables and flowers were killed by the frost, the damage was not believed heavy, because most crops are well

Warns 7,000 Drivers to Hurry and Get Licenses

Auto Club Official Says They 'Had Better Get a Move On'; Get Driver's Permits Before Tuesday.

Mansfield motorists who haven't purchased their driver's licenses yet and plan to drive their automobiles next Tuesday had "better get a move on," Jack Berger, Auto club official, warned today.

On the basis of last year's sale, more than 7,000 licenses will have to be issued during the next four days, so all motorists can be properly licensed, Berger pointed out.

"I don't see how we are going to take care of that many people during the next few days," Berger said. "At this same time last year we had sold several thousand more than we have up to this date and we were jammed up then."

Last year the Auto club sold 14,457 operator's licenses and 1,313 chauffeur's licenses for a total of 15,879. To date, the club has issued only 8,115 operator's licenses and 611 chauffeur's permits.

"According to available statistics, there are even more automobiles on the road in this area than last year," he said. "So the number of licenses to be sold this year should exceed that of last year."

In order to accommodate people who work during the day and find it hard to get into the office during regular hours, the Auto club has kept open until 8 p. m. But, according to Berger, very few have taken advantage of the opportunity.

Berger warned motorists that the Auto club offices would close at 8 p. m. Monday and anyone arriving after that would be "just out of luck."

Auto club officials also announced today that the 1940 license plates would go on sale Tuesday at half price. Passenger car, truck, and trailer licenses will all be sold at that price, they said.

GOAL IN SIGHT

U. S. Sees 375,000 Regulars In Army By Mid-November.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— War department officials predicted today that the record-breaking influx of recruits would give the army its immediate objective of 375,000 regulars by mid-November, well ahead of schedule.

The flow of enlistments indicated a new record of 40,000 or more for September, compared with 31,960 in July and 38,611 in August. Records of 27,870 recruits already have been received this month—more than 3,000 above the total on the corresponding date last month.

As of Sept. 21, with 324,000 enlisted men in service, the regular army was much the largest in American peacetime history.

Newspaper advertising, employed for the first time on a large scale, has contributed materially to the enlistment drive, officials said.

BACK GERMANY IF AMERICANS ENTER FIGHT

Informant States Japan's Policies in Event of Actual Warfare.

SOVIET PACT LIKELY

Still Against Communism, But Ready to Work With Reds, Spokesman Says.

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO — A qualified informant said today it is expected Japan would actively support Germany if the United States should enter the European war.

He said the Japanese government is convinced that the United States is unalterably opposed to Japan's "legitimate" expansion in the Orient.

This source said that "strengthening" of the anti-comintern pact of Germany, Italy and Japan had become one of the main objectives of Japanese diplomacy in the past year.

Meanwhile, he indicated, a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia is not unlikely.

"Japan is and always will be opposed to communism," he said, "but this doesn't mean that a working arrangement with the Russians cannot be effected."

(Recent Japanese press comment has urged rapprochement between Tokyo and Moscow and Japan recently changed her ambassador to Moscow for that ostensible purpose.)

"Japan has consistently sought only peaceful, economic penetration of the Far East," said this qualified informant, returning to the question of the United States.

"Our sphere of action lies here and we prefer not to send troops and warships to the various corners of the Far East to guarantee that penetration.

"However, the United States has consistently attempted to block Japan. Even during times when the British offered conciliation, the American policy increased in strength."

Political circles here believe that Germany shortly will announce a pact with Spain in a strong lineup of the Axis group against the non-totalitarian powers.

GARNER BACK

Returns to Capital To Be on Hand for Conference.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Vice-President John N. Garner, who abruptly departed the capital two months ago with an implied rebuke to President Roosevelt for his third term ambitions, came back today.

Jovial, looking refreshed from his vacation at his Uvalde, Tex., home, but uncommunicative as ever regarding national affairs, the 71-year-old vice-president arrived in Washington as various reports, purporting to explain his return at this time, were circulated.

The most reliable of these were that he has been summoned to a White House conference on the tense far eastern situation, and that his influence in forcing adjournment or recess of congress is being sought by congressional leaders.

Berliners Get Longest Alarm Of Aerial War

London Experiences 19th Consecutive Night of Bombing; German Ports of Invasion Smashed Again By RAF Fliers.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — The German-British aerial duel reached new peaks today with Berlin's longest raid alarm of the war, the heaviest bombardment of the German-held "invasion coast" and the 19th consecutive night of bombing for London.

The British, in their third successive major night raid on the German capital, reported hits on the great Tempelhof airdrome, a munitions factory and a railway yard. Important power stations also were attacked, the air ministry said.

The great naval base of Kiel was even another night target. When daylight again streaked the channel skies fresh British airmen, heavily bundled against the chill, roared off to a new offensive thrust inspired by the constant threat of invasion from the German-held French coast.

Like the rumble of thunder in a channel storm, their bombs burst today in the region of Calais and Cap Gris Nez.

This daylight assault—45 minutes in which the terrific detonations were heard on the English side as virtually one continuous reverberation—followed a three-hour attack in the light of a pale moon from Boulogne to Dunkerque.

The weather on the English channel may have motivated the intensified British pressure on the "invasion coast." Choppy seas which had rendered impossible any navigation by shallow-draft boats—such as German invaders might use—quieted as the day came on.

Even so there was a slight swell in mid-channel, and a cold northeast wind failed to break the sunrise haze masking the French coast.

RAF night raiders also struck at Germany's Kiel naval base while their foemen dumped fresh loads of destruction on rubble-strewn London.

The Nazi raiders took a new path to the British capital for their dusk-to-dawn assault, coming up the Thames estuary, instead of by way of "Hell's Corner"—the southeast coast.

The heavily-bombed central area of the city, however, had a respite from the intense attacks of previous nights.

(Berliners spent five hours in air raid shelters during the night, the fourth in a row which has seen British bombers over the German capital.)

SETBACK: Failure at Dakar Disappoints Great Britain

LONDON—(AP)—Great Britain smarted with disappointment today over abandonment of the attempt to seize Dakar, key port of French West Africa, after a three-day battle in which the admiralty guardedly acknowledged that British warships had suffered damage and casualties.

To many, the incident recalled memories of British setbacks in Norway, Flanders and Somaliland, but the public was too much concerned for the moment with the battle of Britain to voice widespread criticism, and there was no indication the ill-starred venture had weakened Prime Minister Churchill's government.

The press, for the most part, contented itself with publishing the government communique on the withdrawal under such headlines as "Fleet Withdrawn From Dakar—No Wish to Fight French."

The News Chronicle alone sounded a note of censure, striking out with a bold headline "De Gaulle's Expedition to Dakar Fails" and printing an article by Vernon Bartlett, independent member of parliament, storming against "delay and hesitation" and declaring "it has been decided that Germany 'must be allowed another success.'"

The decision to withdraw the "Free French" forces of General Charles de Gaulle and the supporting British fleet from Dakar was made, the British ministry of information said, "when it became evident that only a major operation of war could secure the fall" of the port.

The communique explained, "It has never been the intention of His Majesty's government to enter into serious warlike operations

SHADOW: Ciano Berlin Visit Forecasts World Developments

BERLIN—(AP)—Italy's foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, was en route to Germany today as diplomatic activity appeared to foreshadow early developments in the Axis war program, perhaps aligning new allies against Britain.

German officialdom declined to discuss Ciano's purpose.

The impression was growing that Spain was on the verge of indicating in some substantial measure her desire for closer relations with the Axis, and a more intimate understanding with Japan—as a counterweight to possible closer British-American collaboration—seemed to be in the offing.

(Trustworthy advices received by the Associated Press in New York yesterday said a special German mission to Tokyo has been successful, and announcement of Japan's new role in the Axis scheme of things—perhaps as an active ally—is expected soon. There was no confirmation in Berlin, however, that any new pact actually has been completed.)

Berlin's longest air raid alarm of the war kept the capital's 4,000,000 residents and those of surrounding areas in cellars five hours last night and early today as British bombers attacked for the fourth successive night.

Informed sources said after a preliminary survey that eight apartment houses had been destroyed in Berlin during the raid, and two civilians were killed and five injured. Three other persons apparently were killed in raids on unspecified places in northern and western Germany.

British warships anchored near Plymouth and a military barracks near Dungeness were "effectively bombed" in yesterday's wave of German air attacks on southern England, the German high command announced.

Its communique also reported "severe bomb hits" on docks and port facilities at Plymouth, Portland and Southend, an attack on

"The Authority on Authorities"

"DON'T BE ABSURD!"

Remarks like that are frequently heard at the finish of duplicate games when one player is telling of a result his pair got against some other one on a particular hand. Sometimes the score obtained will sound utterly impossible to a player who got an entirely different outcome from it, but review of the events may show that no one particularly startling thing happened to cause an almost unbelievable denouement.

That is exactly the way the bidding went at one table. West led his diamond A, ruffed by North. Came two high spades, then two top trumps and a third to East's Q. The latter's diamond led ruffed North out of his last trump. The club K was followed by a finesse of the J. When East's Q won, three diamonds were cashed, setting the game contract three tricks.

In the post-mortem at the end of the evening, another player would not believe that result until the order of the tricks was narrated. He himself reached a contract of 7-Hearts by different bidding, following the same first round, and made it. When West led the diamond A, it caused this declarer to count on East for the queens of hearts and clubs. He ruffed the opener, laid down the heart A and, when the 9 dropped from West, decided to finesse the J. The K followed, dropping the Q.

Next he used his club K and led to the A, intending to set up the suit with a ruff, but the Q dropped for him. He then had nothing to do but run the clubs and the top spades.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Those who insist that Hollywood is as blind as justice have a new talking point in Laird Cregar.

Cregar is a huge fellow. It's practically impossible not to see, and yet he had to find his showcase before the town could see him. He found it in the play "Oscar Wilde," but before that, for all his massive hulk, he got fewer jobs in Hollywood than a reasonably lucky midget could expect. A midget, at least, could slip through a studio gate. Cregar, standing six feet 3 inches and weighing some 303 pounds (a point on which he's sensitive) couldn't slip through anything, which means he got into pictures on acting. But not without a struggle.

You'll find him now on the stages of "Hudson's Bay," wearing a heavy beard and the buckskins of a Canadian frontiersman. It's his first movie, but his role is practically as good as Paul Muni's. He'll be wearing beards (he expects) for quite a while yet, because his face isn't as yet aged enough for the characters he must play. He's newly 24, a year younger than Orson Welles.

* * *

To begin where he did: Cregar went to Philadelphia public schools until he was 8, then to prep schools in England. That's where he decided to become an actor, and he stuck to it in American prep schools. He acted and wrote plays (one a revue for which he even designed the costumes). When he left school, at 14, he got into stock around Philadelphia—successfully enough to win a scholarship to the Pasadena Community Playhouse. After training he returned to Philadelphia, found actors overly abundant, and settled for a spot in the Federal Theater. Back in Pasadena in 1939, as a professional, he worked steadily from January until July, then accepted a role in "The Great American Family." It closed a month later, and he was on his own in a town full of unemployed actors. From September to April, 1940, he worked a total of five days in pictures, and that was all.

* * *

"I tried to get any kind of work—digging ditches, dish-washing, anything," he says. "I finally even tried to get on relief, but was disqualified. I couldn't collect unemployment insurance, for while I had earned the necessary $300, it hadn't been within the required period. Without kind friends, I'd have starved. Yes, it's true—I was sleeping in the back seat of a friend's sedan, eating where I could, before 'Wilde'."

"Wilde" was his own idea. Having read the play, he set out to find a producer, and Arthur Hutchinson was his man. Cregar as Wilde got rave notices, but no immediate studio bids. The play here was no great financial success, but Cregar ate regularly again. And finally the studios stepped in—five offers at once.

For all his size, Laird is soft-voiced and humble before his current good fortune. Independent, though, for he rejected a studio which would have paid $50 a week more in favor of one in which he "felt comfortable." The other, he said, reminded him of prison.

He wants to act for a long while, then write. His play, "The Glamorous Guinea Pig," is a Broadway possibility for the winter. He tossed it off during his recent "at liberty" period.

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, Sept 26.

Very interesting developments may be looked for on this day, according to the lunar transits. There are subtle undercurrents of a favorable nature in which there may be intriguing situations with the need of much strategy in putting over rather peculiar or perplexing problems. This in connection with large corporations, secret, political or fraternal organizations.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an interesting and intriguing year in which the definitely obvious and expected may not materialize. There are hints of subtlety, craft, entangling alliances of a legal or other dubious association, calling for alertness, finesse and some rearrangement of plans.

A child born on this day should be enterprising, constructive, original, with a diversity of talents and capabilities probably due to fine inventive genius, imaginative and intuitive leads or impressions.

COMMISSIONERS ASK NEW BIDS FOR ELEVATOR

Reject Nine Proposals Which Exceed Cost Estimate; Still Study Dog Pound.

Richland county commissioners today asked for new bids on the installation of an elevator in the courthouse after rejecting nine bids received last Friday because they exceeded the estimate of $15,000.

Commissioners set Oct. 28 for opening of the new bids. If an award is made then, work on the installation will begin immediately.

Lowest combination of bids received last week totaled $15,933, or $933 over the estimate. Five bids were submitted on the elevator mechanism, with the Westinghouse Electric Elevator company submitting the lowest for $8,482.

J. W. Ness, Mansfield contractor, was lowest on the installation work, offering to do the job for $5,973, while the Richland Electric company, Mansfield, submitted the only bid on the electrical work in connection with the installation. That bid was for $578.

While commissioners have taken no action on the lone bid received Friday on the construction of a county dog pound, they said it is probable new bids will be sought on that project. Simon Small and Son, Mansfield, was the only bidder, asking $2,019 for the job. The estimate was $1,500.

PROGRAMS SET

Rural Schools In County To Observe Poetry Day.

Ohio poets and their poetry will be honored in public schools throughout Ohio on Friday, Oct. 18, according to information received by Boyd Robinson, superintendent of county schools.

An act of legislature recently designated the day as Ohio Poetry Day and the state department of education has asked all schools to observe it, by the study of poetry and especially that of Ohio poets on that day.

Robinson said that he had notified all principals and teachers to conform to the request of the state department.

W. L. Miller, superintendent of public schools, said today that he had received a similar request, but had not yet decided what action he would take on it for city schools.

LATHES WANTED

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—So great is the demand, since the letting of recent federal defense orders, for turret lathes, high speed metal turning machines, that Hadley Vocational school here can now sell for $2,700 a turret lathe it bought nearly ten years ago for $2,692.70, or a profit of $7.30 after ten years.

"What a grand and glorious feeling to have all my bills paid in full!"

Yes, things look bright for you . . . after you've cleaned the slate of scattered obligations and put your budget in balance once more. With the help of a single cash loan you can pay off everything you owe and enjoy that "square with the world" feeling.

City Loan payments are small and easy to meet. Before you realize it you are clear of debt and money ahead. That's why we say, "Think it over . . . then let's talk it over privately. A personal loan can set you right before you know it."

ATTEND PARLEY FOR FOREMEN

Seven Officers, Members of Mansfield-Shelby Club at Cincinnati Session.

Seven officers and members of the Mansfield-Shelby Foreman's club went to Cincinnati today to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Foremen. Sessions will continue through Sunday noon. A number of the delegates will attend the Cincinnati Reds-Pittsburgh Pirates ball game Sunday afternoon.

In the delegation from Mansfield and Shelby were E. C. Geiger, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, president of the Mansfield-Shelby club, D. L. Divelbiss, Tappan Stove company, secretary of the club, G. E. Mensch, Standard Oil company, treasurer; W. R. Mabee, Tappan Stove company, member of the club's board of control; Jay S. Cairns, Ohio Fuel Gas company, past president of the club; Verne Kyle, Tappan Stove company, and Carl Berk, Shelby Sales Book company.

The Mansfield-Shelby club's fall and winter program will get under way late in October with the first of a series of monthly meetings. It is probable that an official of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company at East Pittsburgh will be the speaker.

FLUE JAMMED

BROOKHAVEN, Mass. (INS)—Miss Alice Boughton today knows what caused her water-heating system to go out of order. A plumber found four dead birds—two owls, a blackbird and a bird of undetermined species—jammed in the flue.

MOST PERILOUS

Rodeo Called Most Dangerous of All Sports.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(UP)—Bronc riders make football stars, boxers, bull-fighters and hockey players look like cautious fellows declares Leo Cramer, who for 20 years has produced top-notch western rodeos.

"In what other sport has man the courage to match his skill against the instincts of a killer in the animal kingdom," Cremer asked as he surveyed his corral of wild horses.

"A slip may mean death by unmerciful trampling of a thudding kick in one of the several vital parts," the veteran cowpoke pointed out.

In comparing bronc-busting to prize-fighting, Cremer philosophized, "when you're waiting for the three-minute bell in the 11th round you know your opponent may throw mercy on your soul.

"But not so with a bronc. For it knows no mercy, knows no let-up after it has worked itself into a killing frenzy.

"When a cowboy comes out of the chute aboard the hurricane deck of a bucking critter he knows he's got a rendezvous with the graveyard," Cremer asserted.

TODAY . . . . . your greatest DOLLARS' WORTH . . . . . modern, safe, time and labor saving GAS APPLIANCES

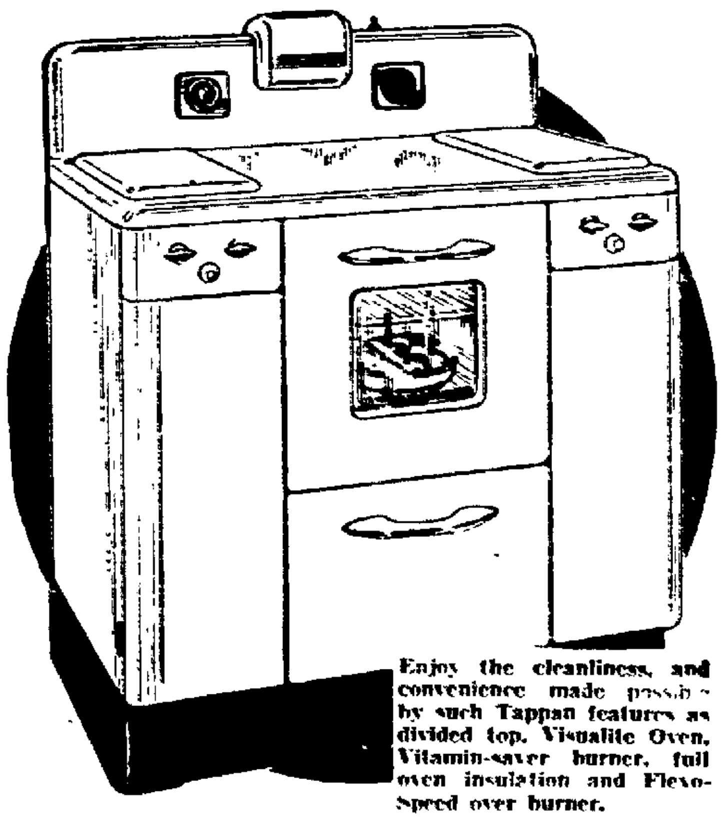
The most for your money is as American as it is practical. Dollar Day is a fitting name for those occasions when the eagle on our money soars to new heights of buying power. We welcome and support Dollar Day with particular interest because it typifies too well the story of what your Gas Appliance Dollar and your monthly Gas Bill Dollar buy today.

Latest type, economical and beautiful gas appliances by which you may heat your entire residence, apartment or just a room or two, provide the finest refrigeration, all cooking and an instant and adequate supply of hot water now complete the list of modern gas uses in the home. Our display includes Servel Refrigerators, Janitrol furnace units, Moore Circulators, Humphrey Radiantfire mantel heaters, Tappan ranges, and Automatic Hot Water Heaters. Budget payments on your gas bill make your purchases of these items possible without money worries.

10-YEAR UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE
ON COMPLETE REFRIGERATING SYSTEM
We now unconditionally guarantee to the original purchasers of 1940 Servel Electrolux Gas Refrigerators while installed on our lines, to replace without cost any defective burner, control, or refrigerating unit, for a period of ten (10) years from date of installation.

The SERVEL ELECTROLUX Gas Refrigerator

Take a look into the future when you choose your new refrigerator. Get the refrigerator that will save you more years—the Servel Electrolux Gas Refrigerator.

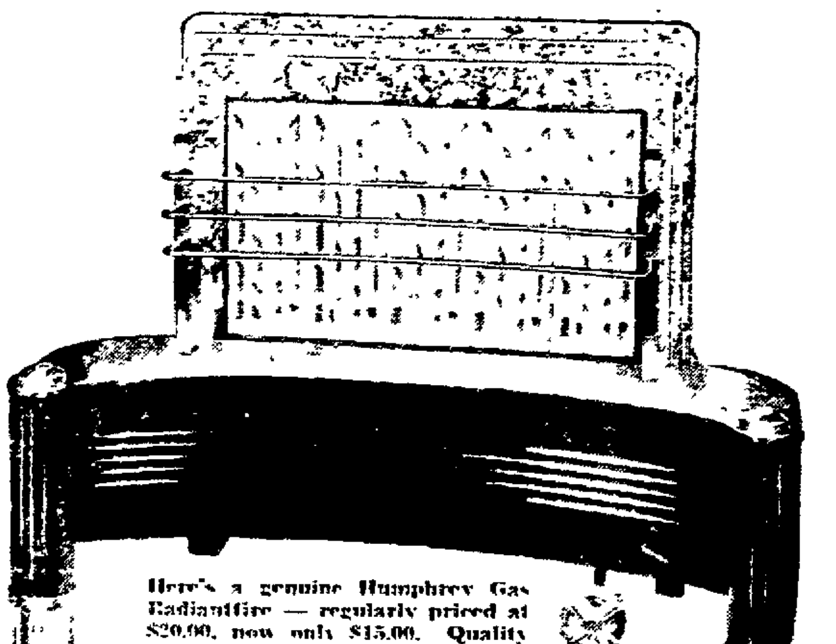


Enjoy the cleanliness, and convenience made possible by such Tappan features as divided top, Visualite Oven, Vitamin-saver burner, full oven insulation and Flexo-Speed over burner.

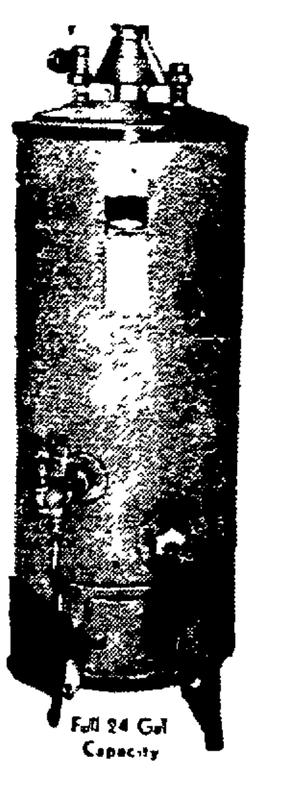
Here is the ideal heating unit for small homes and apartments. The low cost Moore's gas-fired circulating heater supplies clean uniform heat to every portion of the heating space. Convenient, efficient, economical.

All incidental expenses included—clean, healthful, gas heat costs no more than old-fashioned heating methods. And think of the time it saves you in furnace tending—the trouble it saves you in cleaning up furnace dirt tracked through the house. Phone us for a heating engineer to furnish a free estimate on the cost of heating your home with gas.

A Janitrol fits into your out-moded furnace to make it an automatic gas-fired unit.



Here's a genuine Humphrey Gas Radiantfire — regularly priced at $20.00, now only $15.00. Quality workmanship and materials, attractive modern design, make this the finest value yet offered.



Say goodbye to out-moded unreliable hot water service. You, as a modern home maker, can't afford to put up with it another minute—especially when modern, automatic gas hot water service actually costs less.

DAIRY SHOW

Makes Initial Appearance In Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG —(INS)— Making its initial appearance in Pennsylvania since it was organized in 1906, the National Dairy Show will exhibit in the State Farm Show Buildings in Harrisburg, October 12 to 19.

Since its inauguration 34 years ago, the exposition has been held mainly in the metropolitan centers of the west, mid-west and south and is the focal point of the entire national dairy industry.

The show has been held most frequently at Chicago, St. Louis, and Columbus, making occasional appearances, however, at Milwaukee, St. Paul, San Francisco, Dallas, Memphis, Springfield, Mass., Syracuse, New York, and Detroit.

Last year the show was staged at the Golden Gates Exposition on Treasure Island, San Francisco. It will bring to Harrisburg the herds of several hundred leading cattle breeders of the United States, competing for coveted National Championships.

Needs Money

Daughter of the former Austrian minister to the U. S., Patricia Prochnik, 18, has become a professional singer with a Washington orchestra. She isn't doing it for a thrill, either, for she says her family needs the money. Minister Edgar Prochnik lost his diplomatic post when Germany took over Austria.

BUMPER CROP

Oyster Fishermen Dredging Succulent Bivalves.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Sixty thousand oystermen can't be wrong, the oyster season is open.

From Cape Cod to Texas a bumper crop of the succulent bivalves are being dredged, shucked and packed for shipment to oyster lovers throughout the country. Reports from the Oyster Institute of North America indicate there will be a normal supply of oysters—a supply of excellent quality for so early in the season.

Particularly favored is Chesapeake Bay, where a crop of standards of better than average size is indicated.

Other sections of the coast, however, are not so fortunate. Rising prices are in prospect in the north where smaller stocks are reported and production costs have risen. It is too early, says the Fish and Wildlife Division of the Department of the Interior, to evaluate the damage wrought on the North and South Carolina oyster beds by the hurricane of August 11.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS FOR PARKING METERS

The City of Mansfield, Ohio, will receive sealed bids for the 9 months rental, with option to purchase 500, more or less, parking meters until 12 o'clock noon on 7th day of October, 1940. No specifications will be published other than the following instructions to bidders.

The parking meters shall be of the automatic or manual type, but the Board of Control reserves the right to decide after receipt of competitive bids which type is best suited to the requirements of the City of Mansfield. Meters are to operate on a 5c coin for a period of 60 minutes and are therefore single coin meters. Alternate bids will be received on 2-hour meters, the meters to operate for 2 hours on a 5c coin. Alternate bids will be received also on penny and nickel combination meters. Each bidder shall state which type he is bidding upon.

Each bidder shall submit detailed specifications of his meter, its method of operation and method of installation, and shall also submit a sample parking meter of the identical type that he proposes to furnish under his bid.

Each bidder shall be required to deposit with the City of Mansfield, with his bid, a certified check in the amount of $500.00 on a solvent bank in the state of Ohio to guarantee his entering into a contract if given the award. Checks to the unsuccessful bidders will be returned after the successful bidder has executed his contract and satisfied the City of Mansfield he is proceeding with the installation of parking meters.

No bids will be considered on obsolete or discontinued models.

The bids shall be quoted on a rental basis for a period of 9 months, stated in dollars and cents per meter per month. The biddders shall then state the option price he will ask the City of Mansfield to pay at the expiration of the 9 months rental period in the event the City desires to purchase the meters.

The bidder shall also state for what period of time, if any, they will service the meters during the rental period and shall state the guarantee period which time they are willing to furnish parts without charge to the City of Mansfield.

Each bidder shall also state what he will furnish in the form of accessories, if any are intended in his bid, such as, extra coin boxes, coin box carrying cases, and meter parts, etc.

Each bidder shall state the time he requires for making installation after proper notification of the awarding of the contract by the City of Mansfield.

In renting these meters the City of Mansfield agrees to enforce the parking meter ordinance, to collect the receipts from the parking meters, to paint the lines on the streets showing where the cars may park, and to assume responsibility of damage to the meters during the rental period.

Each bidder will be required to furnish with his bid a parts list setting forth a price that his company will charge the City of Mansfield for parts if any are required.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond for the full amount of the contract.

The bidders shall also furnish a list of their installations.

The City of Mansfield reserves the right to order installed at various times any part or all of the meters bid upon during the one year period from date of contract.

The Board of Control reserves the right to reject any and all bids, also, the right to waive all technicalities and do anything that Board of Control believes to be for best interests of City.

EATS WORMS

LUBBOCK, Tex. — (INS) — Jack McDonald, senior engineer at Texas Technological college, is apparently a man who will try anything that has been done before. Hearing his architecture professor mention the fact that 8,000 years ago people ate worms when meat was scarce McDonald found two juicy specimens, fried them in butter to a crisp brown and ate them with apparent relish before the class.

DEPRESSING TRENDS SLIP INTO MARKET

Motors and Aircrafts in List Giving Ground Today; Bonds Irregular.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Mildly depressed trends slipped into the stock market today.

Inclined to give ground were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Glenn Martin, U. S. Rubber, Consolidated Edison, Pennsylvania and Standard Oil of N. J.

Commodities held to a steady course. Bonds developed moderate irregularity. Securities at London maintained their balance.

Rallying handicaps, brokers said, were found in the international war news.

Market analysts studied the summary of the Engineering News-Record which estimated that, for the week ended Tuesday, heavy construction awards passed the $100,000,000 mark for the second successive week and for the fourth time this year.

Defense contracts for military housing, government-owned munition plants and arsenals, as well as increased industrial building volume, the Review said, put the week's total at 135 per cent above the corresponding 1939 period but 15 per cent under the preceding week's high volume.

NAZI-BRITISH RAIDS BECOME MORE INTENSE

Berlin Has Longest Alarm of War; London Gets 19th Night Raid.

The government said London, its suburbs and the surrounding districts again bore the brunt of the night's air attack.

The raiders, after coming up the estuary, divided into two groups, one attacking the northwest section of the city, the other the southern area. Bombing was reported particularly heavy in the north-western region. (The Great Hendon military airdrome is in the general northwestern section.)

The government said fires were started in many parts of the London area, and that only prompt action by firefighters prevented "considerable" damage. Damage also was reported by direct hits on "houses and other buildings in many parts of the area."

Casualties, some of them fatal, were reported, but the number was not known. Other attacks occurred in southeast England, in the northwest and in Wales.

Twenty-six German planes were shot down in yesterday's fighting, four by anti-aircraft and 22 by fighter planes, the government claimed.

Fighter planes which can meet stringent requirements of night fighting are one of Britain's greatest needs, informed sources said. Unless such fighter planes can be developed and supplied to the RAF, London must face an entire winter of German bombing, they asserted.

Hitler Example: Hide in Hurry

BERLIN —(AP)— Every night when an air raid alarm screams through the vast German capital Adolf Hitler, as an example to the German people, retires immediately to a spacious air raid shelter under his palatial new Reichs chancellery and remains there until the all clear signal is given.

At present about 100 children and 30 women who either are expectant mothers or who have just become mothers are brought to the chancellery shelter nightly. Others who greet the Fuehrer are his major-domo, adjutants, officials on night duty and servants.

The shelter is being expanded now to make room for 600 children and 120 expectant mothers and new mothers.

In Berlin they are saying the shelter of the chancellery is the capital's "safest lying-in hospital" physicians and nurses are in attendance.

Hitler often visits the children before they fall asleep.

Jap Troops Land In Indo-China

HAIPHONG, French Indo-China — (AP) —Two thousand Japanese troops landed this morning six miles from this port without firing a shot and without meeting French resistance after three Japanese planes had bombed a nearby railroad crossing, killing and wounding 15 natives.

Shortly after noon the Japanese troops, led by a squadron of light tanks, marched to quarters which the French had provided.

The Japanese commander paid his respects to the French officers and expressed regrets for the aerial bombing. He said it was a mistake.

The landing on the coast was in fulfillment of a Japanese-French agreement which is being put into effect despite the Japanese army's forcible entry across the Chinese border—which the French say violated the pact.

Informed quarters expressed belief that the "peaceful" entry at Haiphong would open the way to settlement of the northern border issue brought about by Japanese marching in Sunday night from the neighboring Kwangsi province of China.

The French called the overland thrust an act of force—the Japanese called it and ensuing clashes with French border troops a result of "insufficient arrangements by Indo-China authorities" under the Tokyo-Vichy accord.

CIANO VISIT TO BERLIN AWAITED

World-Wide Developments Seen Likely as Result of Conference

an airplane factory at Filton and heavy night raids on London's port facilities on both sides of the Thames. Ten British planes were reported shot down yesterday.

The raid and the familiar announcements of continued aerial assaults on England took second place to diplomatic activity in discussions in Berlin's political and military circles.

Count Galeazzo Ciano, was reported coming to Berlin for another step forward in plans laid in Rome by German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Political sources concluded that Ciano would participate in some solemn ceremony of signature.

It seemed apparent, however, the architects of the "new order" were thinking in terms much broader than Europe.

The scope of their vision was indicated by the interest manifest toward Africa, the Orient and—unofficially—even America.

Evidence of the interest in the United States was a lengthy comment in the influential Hamburger Fremdenblatt, usually well-versed in foreign office trends, which pictured the United States as embarking upon a course of "brutal imperialism."

Spain's Entry In Conflict Seen

ROME —(AP)— Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italy's foreign minister and son-in-law of Premier Mussolini, left today for Berlin to conclude diplomatic negotiations which some sources say apparently are intended to bring Spain into the war at the side of the Axis powers.

Fascist sources indicated Ciano would take part in three-cornered conversations with Ramon Serrano Sunar, Spanish minister of government, and German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who outlined Adolf Hitler's plans to Mussolini and Ciano in Rome last week.

Ciano's visit was described officially as a "normal contact, but of great importance." An authoritative source said "collaboration" with other countries "which are awaiting an Axis victory" would be discussed.

The newspaper Il Popolo Di Roma, whose editor is regarded as a close friend of Ciano, declared Spain's position seemed to be one of pre-belligerency."

Foreign circles in Rome meanwhile, expressed belief that Japan's relations with the Axis powers—heretofore considered "close" —had been strengthened further in a talk between Ciano and the Japanese ambassador, Eiji Amau.

German opinion is understood reliably to approve Japanese entry into French Indo-China, but whether various moves in Europe and the Far East will lead to a formal alliance of Japan and the Axis powers remains uncertain.

SAVES ON COAL.

LEGION TO DECIDE TODAY ON FOREIGN POLICY, NEW LEADER

BULLETIN

BOSTON—(AP)—Milo J. Warner, Toledo, attorney, won election as national commander of the American Legion today in a landslide on the first ballot.

(By International News Service)

BOSTON — Two battles from the floor loomed today at the closing session of the 22nd national convention of the American Legion, thus far marked by harmony.

The stand the 1451 representatives of 1,070,000 Legionnaires will take on United States foreign policy was due to be revealed when the foreign relations committee makes its report. The committee has been busy considering resolutions under direction of Chairman Wilbur M. Alter of Colorado.

Action of the convention was unanimous on resolutions approved by the national defense committee, including "all practicable aid to Great Britain and those aligned with her in their fight for freedom," endorsement of the principle of exchanging obsolete equipment for needed air and naval bases, restrictions on alien activities, preparedness to fight outside the United States if an invasion is attempted, and a permanent system of military training.

In addition to the possible debate over foreign policy the convention found itself in the midst of a ten cornered struggle by candidates for the post of commander. The strongest contenders, according to Legion political experts, were: Raymond Field, of Guthrie, Okla., Milo J. Warner, of Toledo, Ohio; and Lynn Stambaugh, of Fargo, N. D. Stambaugh was reported in the corridors as having the support of the west and also the east as he was said to have aided in the successful campaign two years ago that brought election as national commander to Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, Mass. The winner today succeeds Raymond J. Kelly, of Detroit.

Before adjourning to meet next year in Milwaukee the convention selects other officers and hears Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs.

Dramatic last-minute withdrawal of Mrs. J. Allison Hardy, of Columbus, Miss., as a candidate for national president of the Legion auxiliary resulted in uncontested nomination of Mrs. Louis J. Lemstra, of Clinton, Ind. Mrs. Hardy charged that the roll call system in auxiliary elections militates against candidates from small membership states.

against those Frenchmen who felt it their duty to obey the commands of the Vichy government."

While acknowledging that hits had been scored on British warships by French short batteries, the communique did not specify the extent of damage or casualties.

(Reports from Vichy said damage had been inflicted on the 31,100-ton British battleship Barham, the 29-150-ton battleship Resolution and the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Kent.)

The British reported, however, two of three French submarines which took part in the engagement were sunk and indicated hits had been scored on the 35,000-ton French battleship Richelieu, which the British reported they had damaged in an expedition to Dakar last July 8.

Linked with news of the setback at Dakar was a report from Gibraltar that some 100 French warplanes had dropped more than 300 bombs on that British stronghold at the western entrance to the Mediterranean yesterday.

Reports from La Linea, Spain, opposite Gibraltar, said flames were seen leaping from the naval base, and heavy explosions indicated two powder magazines had been hit.

(Official reports from Vichy said the 32,000-ton British battle cruiser Renown had been damaged badly by a direct bomb hit during the Gibraltar raid.)

The communique announcing the withdrawal from Dakar attributed to General de Gaulle the initiative in undertaking the expedition. It said British warships were sent along to support him if he needed aid and because "of information that German influence was spreading to the colony."

The communique also placed upon the French forces at Dakar responsible for opening hostilities.

QUICK JUSTICE FOR ABDUCTOR

Grand Jury Called To Study Muhlenbroich Case.

REDWOOD—CITY, Calif.—(AP) —The FBI turned Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroich over to the state today for speedy prosecution—and probable sentencing to life imprisonment—for the admitted kidnaping of curly-haired, three-year-old Marc De Tristan, Jr.

"I didn't want any publicity," the recalcitrant German alien grumbled, trying to conceal his face behind his hands. But a moment later he surlily acceded to being photographed.

San Mateo county's grand jury was called to convene Friday morning to consider indicting the kidnaper.

LITTLE DAMAGE

American Woman Reports 'Rock' Still Formidable.

MADRID — (AP) — Tuesday's French air raid on Gibraltar caused "surprisingly little" damage, Mrs. Jean Dixon, American wife of the British air attache in Madrid, said today.

Mrs. Dixon said that about 200 bombs were dropped and that four persons were killed and a dozen injured. A bomb, said Mrs. Dixon, fell close to the British battle cruiser Renown which immediately stood out to sea.

SPEED UP WORK

More Men, Equipment Placed on Fourth Street Paving.

Facing a Nov. 15 deadline for the pouring of concrete, the state highway department today took steps to speed up the Fourth street paving project, scheduled for completion Nov. 30.

Mayor William J. Locke announced this morning that the state had placed mechanical equipment on the project to speed up the sub-grading process, while WPA transferred 16 additional workers to the job.

Although it was too wet to use the sub-grading equipment today project supervisors expressed the opinion that it would be placed in service tomorrow. It is expected that with the machine in action that concrete work will move along at a faster pace.

Locke said the transfer of additional WPA workers to the job was announced by state officials who came here yesterday from Columbus to attend the opening last night of the Fourth street festival.

NEW LOAN FOR CHINA ALLOWED

$25,000,000 Granted By U. S. as Japs March.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Fresh financial support to China aroused speculation today on what new steps the United States might take to express in concrete form its already-voiced disapproval of Japan's march into French Indo-China.

A new $25,000,000 loan from the export-import bank to China was announced last night.

Bringing to $70,000,000 the amount of export-import aid to China since the Sino-Japanese war began, the new loan assures continued supplies of arms and other war material from the United States.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to "cure" it afterward—you can avoid having it.

Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need.

Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Parent-Teacher Groups Launch Member Drives

A drive for new members in various Parent-Teacher associations throughout the city got under way this week and will continue for the balance of the week, P. T. A. officers announced today.

Early this week pupils took home blanks for parents to fill out in preparation for joining the P. T. A., the officials said.

When the blanks are filled out and a small membership fee is paid, the parent receives a membership card entitling him to full privileges in the organization, it was explained.

At John Simpson Junior high, the room that enrolls the highest percentage of parents will be given a prize. Other contests in conjunction with the campaign have also been reported.

INHERITS JOB

Rain Destroyer's Son Takes Up Weather Attack.

NEW DELHI, India—(UP)—The life duty of Sobhagmal, inherited from his father, was to keep the rain away from the village of Tajjan, near New Delhi.

When the village was threatened with a furious storm, Sobhagmal climbed a neighboring hill and began uttering wild imprecations against the elements and brandishing his sword.

Nothing happened except Sobhagmal got wet and died of exposure.

Now Sobhagmal's son has inherited the job.

INSTALLMENT JAIL

BERLIN—(INS)—Serving shorter terms of detainment on a week-end "instalment basis" was sanctioned recently by the Ministry of Justice.

Prison authorities have been advised to permit persons sentenced to detainment not over two weeks to do their terms by "week-end installments" from Saturday to Monday. Such a week-end is equivalent to two days of detainment.

FILE PROTEST ON PETITIONS

Residents in Ganges School District Claim Transfer Was Illegal.

Apparently dissatisfied with the transfer of the Ganges school district to Shelby, a small number of residents of the Ganges community had protested to the county board of education today that a petition for the transfer, circulated several weeks ago, was illegal because a provision allegedly was included in it after it was circulated.

The county board, which approved the transfer early in September, will consider the complaints at its meeting Saturday morning.

The petition, now in the hands of Boyd Robinson, county superintendent of schools, includes an attached note excluding five Ganges properties and three farms in the community. The provision was not written into the petition.

The transfer took 16 pupils from the Union Rural school district, which formerly included the Ganges district, to Shelby. Nearly 50 residents of the community signed the petition for the transfer.

Pastor Warns Against Pacifism

SHARP CRITICISM of American churches, ministers and religious publications is voiced by the Rev. Dr. Dilworth Lupton of Cleveland. He accuses them of turning a vital and militant religion into what Karl Marx called "an opiate for the people." And thus, he believes, religion is unwittingly in danger of becoming Hitler's most effective ally in America.

He points to church papers with large circulation which are bitterly attacking conscription, the establishment of naval bases and co-operation with Britain and Canada, scoffing at fears of a Hitler invasion and "giving pacifists the green light," as against patriots aware of the danger and eager to defend their country.

In such publications, he complains, he finds no indication that "America is faced with the possibility of having her most cherished spiritual value destroyed by that mad German pagan, Adolf Hitler." Instead, he finds "Prince of Peace declamation contests," which he agrees are noble in idea, but are "like holding Fire Prevention Week in London in the fall of 1940."

He demands that Christian people and organizations combine realism with their idealism, and follow the example of men like Jeremiah and St. Paul and the early Christian martyrs who were willing to die for their ideals.

He reminds impractical people who are doping themselves with unreal dreams of heavenly peace to wake and take an honest and intelligent look at the world as it now is. He asks them especially to note the tragic situation that the British people got themselves into by so long failing to realize that "faith without works is vain," and that people who want to be saved must do something about it themselves.

After Two Years Planning

KIDNAPING has become such an uncommon crime in the United States in the past few years that many people have lost sight of the need of constantly guarding against the working of distorted minds, in which such crimes originate.

The record of the federal bureau of investigation in solving 185 of the 187 kidnapings since the Lindbergh law was passed in 1932 has been such as to discourage real criminals from attempting to collect ransom from the family of a kidnap victim.

Yesterday's story of incidents preceding the snatch of the De Tristan boy in California, as told by Earl J. Connolly, chief of the FBI kidnap squad, clearly evidences years of crooked thinking on the part of Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroich, alien abductor of the child.

This dangerous alien guest of the United States, under grant of full freedom, had carefully planned to kidnap a child and demand ransom. He had listed 75 to 100 prospective victims before deciding upon one.

Circumstances in connection with the crime, the eccentric ransom note and the behavior of Muhlenbroich while he had the boy in his possession indicate he would have had no hesitancy about killing the child if he could have thus avoided capture.

Outstanding as a fortunate phase of this case is the publicity which resulted in Cecil Wetzel, western lumberman and former football player, learning of the kidnaping and being thus enabled to capture the kidnaper and rescue the child. It is sometimes urged that complete secrecy would be an advantage in kidnap cases, but in this instance publicity helped rather than hindered.

Freedom Flickers Out

THE LAST flicker of a free press in continental Europe may have been seen in the effort of the Swedish press to tell its people what Hitler was doing in London. To the Fuehrer and his staff it was intolerable to have the truth of that murderous assault on civilization told to the Swedish people and leaking out over their borders.

The assault on Britain, as the Nazis see it, and as they represent it to all the once-free countries they have struck down and dragged into their brutal system, is a heroic and praiseworthy enterprise. Seeing it themselves in that light, and facing the need of keeping their own people and their enslaved neighbors in line, they must naturally continue to believe and profess that deadly faith. So as a Nazi organ puts it, "Germany simply cannot stand for an unfriendly press policy in a neighbor country."

Such is the sad situation in Germany, where the art of printing was invented.

War Brings Soap Shortage

SHORTAGE of soap is already being felt in Italy, which has not been long in the war. Only one kind of laundry soap is now permitted, and not very much of that. It is an unpleasant soap, too. There are similar restrictions on toilet soap.

The problem has long been still more serious in Germany. One of the chief hardships there is inability to keep clean on the slender soap ration. This comes from a lack of fats. There has been some relief lately, since Germany has been able to get fats from the western countries taken over. But the army, as usual, is supplied first, and cleanliness is a serious problem to a cleanly people.

Those Long-Range Guns

THAT big gun with which the Germans are said to be shelling London from a distance of 90 miles, if it really exists, is little more than a piece of stage property. The celebrated cannon with which the kaiser shelled Paris in the last war from a distance of 75 miles did little damage, and the Parisians soon got used to it.

Such a weapon, experts say, can be fired only a few dozen times and then has to be rebored. That is because of the intense heat generated by the enormous explosive charge required. The bore of the gun is not great in comparison with the length of the barrel. Naturally is cannot be aimed accurately at a target so far away. Airplane bombing is far more effective.

Listen, World!

Are We Changing a Democracy Into a Dame-ocracy?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IS THERE Too Much Mama in our American scheme of things?

Have we sold out our old, virile ideals for a "Female Dream" of comfort, culture and security?

Are we changing a democracy to a dame-ocracy?

And is all this petting and protection making home bums of us?

Let me hasten to assure you that these notions are not necessarily my opinion. If you want to throw something, blame Roy Skelton whose magazine article "The Inner Threat: Our Own Softness" is certainly some red hot earful. While you're reaching for it, here's the general drift.

America was a Tough Outfit once. We were short on a lot of things such as comfort, culture and cold cash. But no one tackled us without wishing they hadn't. But now we've had over 100 years of comparative peace and plenty during which time Mom has taken us in hand and taught us Company Manners. And an appreciation of the Higher Things of life. So what? Suppose a war does come along — how do you think we'd rate?

ARE WE STILL LOADED FOR BEAR? STILL ABLE AND EAGER TO LICK OUR WEIGHT IN WILDCATS?

Mr. Skelton definitely thinks NOT. And puts the responsibility right up to the Mrs. and The Girls. Not that he underestimates their talents. To the contrary, he hands them whole fistfuls of medals. But he does believe that too much is too many, particularly when it happens to be the well known "Feminine Influence."

He admits that the ladies have achieved some mighty pleasing results. We're no end cleaner and politer than we were in 1840. We've chucked out most of the cuspidors and put a taboo on Grandpa's "plug cut." We live in a far healthier world than our old folks did—and an infinitely more comfortable and convenient one. In short, Mom's taken these United States right out of Dad's unmanicured mitts and done them over to conform with her refined female pattern. And right there is where Mr. Roy Skelton turns loose with all his artillery.

For, according to him, that refined pattern is raising Cain with the once-well-known American spine. Reason why? The first thing every woman desires and demands for herself and her children is SAFETY. Plus new living room curtains, a nice car, college educations for Sister and Junior, and a home in the better part of town as soon as possible. All of which are different versions of her main desire for secure and pleasant living.

Whereupon several thousand sisters will indignantly query: "Well, what's wrong with that? Naturally any good mother wants to do the best for her children!"

But that, protests friend Skelton, is just the point. All this soft, safe sweetie-pie plan of living is NOT "the best thing" for either the youngster or his nation. It's perfectly natural for any female animal to wish to protect her offspring, and, incidentally, quite pleasing to her own sense of importance.

BUT THE GREATEST DANGER TO ANY LIVING THING IS LACK OF DANGER! We humans need roughage in life as vitally as a hen needs grit in her craw. Remove a people from all risks and shocks, protect them from tests and tribulation, and what have you left? A MESS OF MARSHMALLOWS!

All of which Mr. Skelton puts in much nicer words. But there's no whipped cream on his main contention: "WE'VE GOTTA GET TOUGH AGAIN!" Or some Low Creature from the other side of the tracks is going to drop in and take us for a Stuka Dive, right back to where we started from without any curl in our hair.

So now it's YOUR turn to tell 'em, Sara Jane. What's your reaction to this Skelton blast? Do you agree that Mom—grand old gal though she is—has been running the show her own way far too long and that somebody should let Dad out of the dog-house so he can heave a little redeeming blood and thunder into the midst of all this sweetness and light? Yes? No? Let's have it!

—By DR. CLENDENING

F. P.:—"What can be done for phlebitis? My husband had a bruised ankle put in a cast, and sore spots developed on the leg, and then pneumonia, cured by sulfanilamide, and then phlebitis."

Answer—Phlebitis is an inflammation of the veins of the leg. It may light in the vein as a result of a general infection of the body, such as pneumonia, or a local inflammation of the leg. In either case, a pus infection develops inside the vein with the formation of a clot. It always recovers if rested long enough. But a new return circulation must form and the leg is always afterwards likely to swell if used vigorously, as by long walking or standing.

* * *

S. H. B.:—"How long does immunity to smallpox last after vaccination?"

Answer — Epidemiologists are inclined to believe that in most instances it lasts for life. In the Philippines when the United States took them over the population was almost entirely unvaccinated and a systematic vaccination of the entire population was done, completed about 1903. Beginning in 1914 this vigilance began to relax, and in 1918 there was a serious smallpox epidemic. Ninety-three per cent of the deaths occurred among the unvaccinated group. In the protected group the immunity had lasted from 15 to 18 years.

M. F. H.:—"Does poison ivy come back each year? There are little white blisters on my hands and toes every spring. They do not form a circle."

Answer—In spite of the fact that they do not form a circle, they are probably ringworm. Treat with Whitfield's ointment.

J. H. W., Syracuse, N. Y.—"Please give some vegetables that have vitamins good for the eyes. You published them some time ago, but I mislaid the clipping."

Answer: Carrots, corn, spinach, whole wheat.

R. H. B., Detroit, Mich.—"I chap very badly and the only thing I have found to stop it is powered alum. Is that dangerous?"

Answer—No danger.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Fortresses, Bombers to Be Sold, Britain to Get Long-Range Craft

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Twenty-five of the army's famed "Flying Fortresses" and an equal number, or more, of the navy's powerful twin-engined PBY patrol bombers will soon be sold to Britain.

The negotiations, now nearing completion, have been going on for several weeks simultaneously with conversations regarding the securing of air and naval bases on strategic British islands in the Pacific.

The British are urgently in need of long-range, great weight-carrying planes of the "Flying Fortress" and PBY type. Lack of ships of this kind is a vital weakness in British air power. They have no planes capable of operating east of Berlin, which makes it impossible to strike at some of the Nazis' key war production centers located in what were formerly Austria and Czechoslovakia.

A fleet of 25 "Flying Fortresses," which have a cruising radius of over 5,000 miles, would bring the war home to the Germans where it would hurt most. Also, the British could strike smashing blows at Italian industries—and Italy is the Achilles heel of the Axis.

The naval PBYs are needed in the crucial Mediterranean struggle. With a range of 4,000 miles, these mighty flying boats could destroy Italian submarines, transports and supply ships. Italy has to transport everything she needs in her African offensive across the Mediterranean, and the PBYs could cripple this jugular vein.

These planes also are needed to meet the impending assault on Gibraltar, key to British control of the Mediterranean. They also would put Britain in a much stronger position to meet the threat of Spanish intervention.

* * *

U. S. Supply.

THE ARMY has a total of 59 "Flying Fortresses" plus a number of others in production, which are coming from the factory at the rate of about seven a month.

In addition to buying 25 of those now in service, the British also would like to make an arrangement to obtain every other new ship. Army officials say this would not delay U. S. rearming, but would enable the manufacturer to expand his facilities and achieve a greater output.

The navy is amply supplied with PBYs. It already has 196 in service and 200 more being produced at the rate of one every 36 hours. The new ships are considerably faster and more powerful than most of the 196 in service. Navy heads declare that fifty of these planes could be spared without any impairment to navy air power.

The method of sale under consideration is similar to the sale of obsolete dive bombers and surplus World war rifles, machine guns and munitions last spring. The planes would be turned in to the manufacturers, who would sell them to the British and credit the army and navy with the funds on purchase of new and better ships.

The British plan to fly the giant planes direct across the Atlantic, and crews of English and American airmen are being assembled in Canada for this purpose. The great flying field at Botswood, Newfoundland, probably will be the jumping off point.

Note—Britain also is seeking 250,000 World war model Lee-Enfield rifles. The army has about 1,250,000 in reserve stocks.

Daisy on Stump.

MRS. J. Borden ("Daisy") Harriman, U. S. minister to Norway, will take the campaign stump for President Roosevelt.

Since her return from the Nazi-overrun country, Mrs Harriman has been under state department orders not to talk. But the gag will shortly be lifted and she will return to her first love—politics.

Mrs. Harriman will do her orating mostly in Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota, where there are large Scandinavian populations. She is an old hand at campaigning. In 1928 she accompanied Al Smith in all his speaking trips and was active in the 1932 and 1936 campaigns.

Neighbor Generals.

THE U. S. government, which has dealt in half-way measures in its Latin-American relations, at last is making a bold stroke for good will. Announcement will soon be made of the acceptance by all twenty Latin-American governments of an invitation to give their chiefs of staff an all-expense courtesy tour of the United States and its military establishments.

The government began this last year by inviting the Brazilian chief of staff, able General Goes Monteiro, to this country. Now, instead of inviting only one general, twenty are being asked—and Monteiro is coming back for a second visit.

Ten at a time, the generals, with one aide apiece, will be flown around the country on the following itinerary: Langley Field, Fort Benning, San Antonio, Fort Sill, Fort Knox, Detroit, New York, West Point, and Washington.

They will ride in a commercial transport plane, engaged especially for the purpose by the war department, and all expenses from their respective capitals and return will be on the U. S.

Besides its good will value, the tour will be important in advancing the discussions that already have taken place on joint military action in the event of an emergency.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

REPEATED efforts to persuade Jim Farley to take the stump for Roosevelt have so far been unavailing. Although still holding his job as New York Democratic chairman, the new Coca Cola mogul balks at doing anything for his former "Chief." Certain Democratic leaders privately are miffed and are talking of blasting Farley—but this is unlikely. . . . Minnesota's Governor Harold Stassen has a leading role in guiding the labor end of the Willkie campaign. The labor section of the Republican national committee consults Stassen on all its plans and activities—at direct personal orders from Willkie. . . . The president will not go to the Pacific Coast for any campaigning, but he is going to bat personally for Representative Mon C. Wallgren, Democratic candidate for senator in Washington state. Roosevelt will send a message for Wallgren's election.

Correction.

IN STATING that Clay Williams, head of the Reynolds Tobacco company, had camped beside Representative Robert Doughton, chairman of the ways and means committee, in order to influence the excess profits bill, this column was misinformed. It finds that Mr. Williams talked to Mr. Doughton only once while the tax bill was under consideration, and in no sense as a lobbyist. Subsequently Mr. Williams appeared before the senate finance committee, and although he was opposed to one phase of the bill, that opposition was expressed openly and in the usual manner available to a citizen.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

SAN JUAN, P. R.—The defense program has given new energy and drive to life in San Juan. This is to be the principal link in a defensive chain of air and naval bases that stretches from Newfoundland to beyond Panama.

You drive along the streets and you see a line of big army tanks. Farther on you see a row of big army tents. Under each of those tents is a 155 mm. gun. You look out over the harbor and your eye picks up a squadron of new destroyers, gray and low-lying in the water. They patrol this part of the ocean ceaselessly.

Just now I stood under a coconut tree and watched four great naval seaplanes alight in the harbor. A few hundred yards away an army bomber came in from somewhere out of the summer skies. Dive bombing practice, probably. You see interceptor and fighter planes roaring into the air. They are small and seem like silver wasps in the sun. They get into the air with incredible speed.

* * *

THE construction of landing fields and the army airdromes is being pushed 24 hours a day. You can't get into these fields unless you have proper credentials. But all night long you can hear the hammering and see the lights where the men are at work. Sometimes at night you can hear the dull boom and then the high shrill whistle or scream, of the big shells in flight. Coastal batteries in night practice. Everyone talks about the trial black-outs, with which all of Puerto Rico is accustoming itself. These blackouts last 45 minutes.

This morning I had the pleasure of flying over the island and out over the great naval harbor in the Caribbean.

My pilot was E. W. Hadley, chief of the forest service, Department of Agriculture. We curled back over San Juan, which looks like a jagged reef from the air then turned inland and climbed through a cloud-pocket, over the mountains, and out into the clear on the other side. The blue of the Caribbean was indescribable. We went on until we came to Monkey Island, a small island out into the sea where a Russian and his wife live alone with 600 monkeys. This Russian is a scientist. His work is in connection with the School of Tropical Medicine. We dove down low over the Island, sat up on one wing, and slowly circled it. One end was densely forested with coconut trees. We could see the monkeys move like droves of small dogs.

* * *

PUERTO RICO has no lakes but has a river with headwaters in the mountains. Hadley explained that American-bred rainbow trout had been introduced into the headwaters of this river and were doing wonderfully. He said also that despite claims that there are no snakes in Puerto Rico, he personally has found boa-constrictors eight feet long in the hills. The reason there are supposed to be no snakes on the island is that some time ago a number of mongooses were imported to clean them out. The mongooses prospered and run wild.

Even over the highest ranges of the mountains you are impressed by the many dwellings. Puerto Rico isn't very long—perhaps a hundred miles long and 30 to 40 wide. So every inch of space is valuable. This island is one of the most densely populated in the world. They have a saying here that every time anyone takes a deep breath a couple of Puerto Ricans are pushed off into the sea.

A Farmer's Diary

Growing Up

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE STROLLED down the gravel highway, turned into a narrow grassy trail, crossed the worm fence and entered the shadows of the woods. My young daughter was my companion. "It's different Daddy, and more beautiful by moonlight," she said. "Aren't you glad we came?"

I nodded, and thought how well the setting suited the 13-year-old enthusiasm of my girl. She fitted into the moonlit woods like a wood nymph in her native haunts. Objects were vague about us—the woods floor was deceptive and uneven, flecks of sifting moonlight came through the leafy canopy above, light slowly crept among the slender trunks. I heard, far off, the stealthy sound of a wandering coon and the rustling nearby of forest mice, moles and shrews. My daughter remarked a fact I have often noticed.

"So much is moving, even though it seems so quiet," she said. "This woods is like a fairy place. I imagine I see fairies playing with the red berries on this dogwood tree. Elves and goblins are there too. They seem to be such little people that unless I keep thinking about them all the time they go away. . . .

"Do you think the old red fox knows we are here? Did some one of his woods friends tell him? Do you suppose he has gone to his den to hide? I'd like to be in there just a little while to see how he has it fixed. He's such a cunning animal to walk through the woods without a sound. Even an Indian couldn't quite do that."

We walked up the valley to the hill top in my neighbor's pasture. There were no trees on the elevation but all the level moonlit bottom of Honey Creek lay spread before us mistily. We glimpsed the dim oil lamp of our own cottage, the quiet steady home lights of our neighbors.

"My schoolmates do not know I'm watching their homes from away up here," remarked the child. "Daddy, isn't it wonderful that children do have homes where they can eat and sleep and play and maybe work, and have their parents to love them? Where they don't have to hear cannons shooting and run and hide in a deep shelter underground whenever an airplane goes over. Do you think I'll ever have a home as nice as ours when I grow up?"

She skipped along, not waiting for an answer.

I watched her, with animated face and moonlight on her hair—and all I found words to say, beneath my breath, was what every father feels in these troublous times. "Thank you, my dear. God knows I hope so."

POSTS SEEN AS DEFENSE UNITS

Fire Observation Towers Used In Maneuvers of Air Corps.

SELFRIDGE FIELD, Mich.—(INS)—Fire-control observation posts scattered throughout the country may play an important part in the nation's air defense in the event of war.

This fact was revealed during recent army air maneuvers at Selfridge Field and in northeastern Michigan.

During the maneuvers, observers stationed at more than 100 fire control towers poured in a steady stream of reports by radio concerning activities of approaching air forces.

The control towers were manned by state conservation divison men who had received some preliminary training in proper methods of air observation.

Another interesting point disclosed in connection with the maneuvers was success in concealing huge "flying fortresses" in dense woods to protect them from "attacking air forces."

The mammoth four-motor planes were hauled into cleared spaces and then covered with boughs. Special crews were trained to conceal each plane in 10 minutes, under favorable conditions.

WANT PIED PIPER

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—A Pied Piper to relieve certain sections of down town St. Louis of a plague of rats was the crying need expressed by those in charge of some of the large buildings affected. The rat invasion was blamed by some on the destruction this year of a 37-block area of old buildings on the riverfront adjoining the present downtown retail business area.

ACT FAST WHEN A COLD THREATENS

Use This 3-PURPOSE Medicine

At the very first sniffle, sneeze, or sign of a cold put just a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril. If used in time, Va-tro-nol's stimulating action actually helps prevent many colds from developing.

. . . And remember this, when a head cold makes you miserable, or transient congestion "fills up" nose at night, spoils sleep—3-purpose Va-tro-nol gives valuable help as it (1) shrinks swollen membranes. (2) relieves irritation. (3) helps flush out nasal passages, clearing clogging mucus. Enjoy the relief it brings.

Steel worker says wonderful relief came after Vendol relieved constipation. Advises everyone to try famous medicine.

MR. ROWLEY C. LONG

Mr. Rowley C. Long of 116 E. Fourth St., Mansfield, a steel worker for many years who has hundreds of friends all around here, says, "I had suffered from constipation for years, and this condition forced me to eat light meals, but even what I ate caused 'heartburn,' gas, shortness of breath, fiery acid risings, and sour stomach, and sometimes made me so nervous that I couldn't rest well.

"Reading what Vendol was doing for other suffering people all around here, I gave it a trial, and it relieved my constipation so well that now I can eat anything even fried foods, with no distress, nervousness, or headaches, and I sleep like a healthy child. I feel so much better that I can't praise Vendol enough."

Vendol contains extracts of 12 Roots and Herbs mixed with Valuable Alkalines and due to this wonderful combination of ingredients, gives relief to many different symptoms all at the same time. Miserable people tell how they get such a cleansing and invigorating effect from Vendol, they soon feel like different men and women. If you have the same troubles, give Vendol a chance to help you.

Vendol is sold by most all leading druggists everywhere and is highly recommended here by Central Drug Store, corner Main & 4th Streets.

'YOU CAN'T GO HOME AGAIN' ON NEW BOOK LIST

Latest Novel by Thomas Wolfe Tells Story of Young Writer's Experiences.

New on the shelves at Mansfield Public library is Thomas Wolfe's last novel, "You Can't Go Home Again," which tells the story of a young writer, the author himself, and his experience when he sets out to see life clearly. Another novel, written by Stephen Southwold about Charles Lamb is entitled "So Perish The Roses" and deals with the hero's entire life.

An American foreign correspondent, Henry Cutler Wolfe, discusses the Nazi-Soviet pact in his new book, "The Imperial Soviets," and predicts that Stalin will be the final victor emerging from the present chaos in Europe.

Other new fiction released includes:

DUTCH VET by A. Roothaert, a hearty, down to earth novel with Dr. Vlimmer, a Dutch veterinary, as its central figure. The story of his private affairs is interwoven with that of his professional career, and through the latter, one gains an excellent picture of peasant life.

'OTHER FICTION: UNQUIET FIELD by Seymour. BROADSIDES, Daly; BASILISSA, Masefield.

The non-fiction list includes: THE IMPERIAL SOVIETS by Henry Cutler Wolfe, an American foreign correspondent, is a discussion of the Nazi-Soviet pact. Wolfe bases his deductions on eighteen years of personal knowledge of the two countries, and attempts to show that Stalin is the most clever political strategist in Europe, predicting that he will be the ultimate victor in the present European conflict.

NEW ROADS TO RICHES IN THE OTHER AMERICAS by Edward Tomlinson combines an economic and political survey with a travel narrative and descriptions of the national characteristics of several South American countries: Venegula, Colombia, Panama, Ecuador, Peru, and Bolivia.

PHOTOGRAPHY AND THE AMERICAN SCENE by Robert Taft is the first complete history of the United States camera from its beginnings in the daguerrotype process of 1839, through wet-plate photography to the development of the film camera (1888), and its effect on our social life.

The Memorial Board has presented to the library a new book on FLOWER AND FRUIT PRINTS OF THE 18TH AND EARLY 19TH CENTURIES by Gordon Dunthorne. The volume contains their history, makers and uses. Beautifully colored illustrations accompany the text, and collector's will find the book a valuable aid.

Other non-fiction: UNITED STATES REGIONAL COOK BOOK by Berolzheimer and others; BAND'S MUSIC, Goldman; THIS WAR, Mann; WHY EURCPE FIGHTS, Millis; NORTH AMERICAN MYTHOLOGY, Alexander; SCIENCE AND EVERYDAY LIFE, Haldane; ARTISTS IN STRING, Haddon; COMETS, Oliver; PLANTS WITH PERSONALITY, Synge; LOOK AT THE LAW, Jackson.

Chief Bates Goes To Washington for New FBI Training

Police Chief M. K. Bates will leave Sunday for Washington to enter the class for re-training of National Police Academy graduates. He will return the following Sunday.

Bates took the prescribed course in police methods two years ago under the FBI supervision and returned last year for re-training. This year's training, under the direction of J. Writer Says Invasion Attempt Smashed By British

REPORTS MANY NAZIS KILLED 'IN PRACTICE'

Kenneth Downs, INS Bureau Manager in Paris, Gets First-Hand Story.

(Editor's Note: Persistent rumors that the Germans already have tried to invade England without success are thrown into sharp relief by this exclusive story by Kenneth Downs, former manager of the Paris bureau of International News Service, now here on leave.)

By KENNETH DOWNS

NEW YORK—(INS)—A severe defeat of German "invasion" forces along the Channel has taken place within the last month, I learned today from a foreign observer who received eye-witness corroboration of the event.

This defeat, as spectacular as it was bizarre, may account for the sensational story carried this week by the London Daily Mail that 50,000 German troops had been destroyed by gales and the RAF off Channel ports, and explains the persistent rumors about a thwarted invasion effort that have been percolating out of European capitals for several days.

Kenneth Downs, writer of this first-hand story of the smashing of German invasion units by British fliers, is scheduled to be in Mansfield Oct. 9 for an address before a joint meeting of service clubs.

It has likewise slowed up the German invasion plan to the point where most insiders in the United States army now doubt that it can be launched at all this year.

This, according to my informant, is how the Nazi setback took place:

The German command by the the end of August had concentrated enormous numbers of ships and barges and infantry, artillery and mechanized forces in the Channel ports in preparation for the invasion of England, just as they had accumulated similar craft, men and material in the Baltic ports last winter, months before the invasion of Norway.

Repeating their Norwegian campaign tactics, the Germans embarked men and machines at many points one day and put out into the Channel a short distance for a rehearsal of the invasion. The intention was to turn around and, upon returning to their bases, "invade" the French shores in the way they hope to invade England in earnest when "Der Tag" came.

But the British, tipped by a smooth-working espionage system in France, caught the embarked enemy off base. Smashing down in a torrential bombing and machine-gunning attack, the Royal Air Force destroyed a number of ships and barges and exacted a huge toll in lives before the Germans could make shore.

German bodies were washed up for days along the shores of northern France and Belgium, particularly off Le Harve, Calais, and Boulogne, where the largest forces were caught.

Thus the RAF for the second time in this war jinxed the German war machine, temporarily throwing it out of gear when it seemed to be running at its best, along the stern coast of northern France. The first time was at Dunkirk when the British brought out their metropolitan air force for the first and only time during the French campaign to inflict a terrible defeat on the Luftwaffe and make possible the "miracle" of the evacuation, staving off the complete disaster which had threatened.

The recent defeat in the channel, along with the steady pounding the RAF has administered the jump-off ports ever since, has so far set back the German invasion schedule that the U. S. army intelligence service now believe the chances are at least ten to one against an invasion attempt this year.

However, if the Germans fail to go through with the invasion, it will be the first time since the war started that they will have concentrated great attacking forces with such elaborate preparation for nothing. It will be interesting to note the reaction in this war where "morale" counts so heavily.

Speaking of morale, reports from Paris say the feeling among German troops and officers in France today is considerably different from what it was when they entered the French capital June 14.

Nazi spirits, at an all-time high with the climax of the French invasion, have fallen off considerably for the following reasons: the devastating attacks of the RAF on the "invasion" armies, attacks which have cost high in men and materials and, even more important, apparently blocked invasion chances, leaving the prospect of a long, gruelling war:

The failure of so many comrades to return from air raids over England:

General war weariness. This applies principally to older troops who have been fighting most of the time for the last two and a half to three years (starting in Spain) and are getting fed up with it. They want to return to their homes and families.

Reports from competent observers in France say nobody is more anxious for peace today than the Germans.

More Bodies Washed Ashore

LONDON—(INS)—Official disclaimers in London and Berlin today failed to halt a flurry of rumors indicating a smashing defeat for German forces engaged in a spectacular attempt to invade England by seizing the Isle of Wight.

Authoritative British circles reiterated that reports of an attempted Nazi invasion had "no foundation in fact," and Berlin termed them "British propagandist lies."

But from the observers at strategic points along the south and southeast coasts of England came a flood of rumors to the effect that bodies of German soldiers in huge numbers had been washed ashore and carried away in "innumerable" closed motor trucks and mysterious ambulances.

Official explanations said that these bodies were of German airmen shot down over the channel. Yet usually reliable correspondents in the coastal regions told of a widespread belief that the bodies actually represented victims of an abortive Nazi attempt to invade this country.

FIVE-MEMBER BOARDS RULE LOCAL DRAFT

Ohio Prepares New Set Up Under Regulations of Conscription Law.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS Personnel of local draft boards in Ohio has been increased to seat five instead of three members on each board, it was learned reliably today.

National guard officers assigned to active duty to set up machinery for military conscription next month said the bigger membership was required by the final form of the national conscription law.

Originally, the law called for registration of men from 21 through 30 and three men boards were believed large enough for the job of classification of the men. The enacted law increased the registration age from 21 to 35.

Board members will receive no compensation but clerical staffs will be paid from federal funds.

Governor Bricker, within the next day or so, will ask county committees composed of the presiding common pleas judge, the probate judge and a third member selected by them, to submit recommendations for draft board members. Present plans call for 338 local draft boards in Ohio.

The governor in turn will submit the recommendations to President Roosevelt for appointment.

Captain Edward Marsh, of the state selective service staff, said there probably would be no change in the number of draft boards planned for each county nor in the boundaries of the local districts revealed two weeks ago.

SCRAP IRON BAN

President Orders Embargo on Exports 'For Defense.'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt today ordered restriction of exports of scrap iron and steel which will permit them after October 16 to go only to countries of the western hemisphere and to Great Britain.

A statement issued by the White House said Mr. Roosevelt had approved the establishment of additional controls over the exportation of iron and steel scrap "with a view to conserving the available supply to meet the rapidly expanding requirements of the defense program in this country."

No mention was made of Japan, which has been a big buyer of the scrap, but the latest step to restrict the exports immediately was regarded by some authorities as an additional indication of this country's dissatisfaction with Japan's policies in the Far East.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters in response to questions that Mr. Roosevelt had been in almost continuous consultation, mostly by telephone, with Secretary Hull, but that he knew of no major conference scheduled by the chief executive to consider touchy Far-Eastern problems.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I wasn't trying to keep you in there," I told my husband, smiling. "I was just trying to give Lil and Katrina a chance to get into the library unseen by Edith."

He quirked his eyebrows, quizzically.

"How do they come into the picture?" he asked.

"They have a foolish notion that Edith in her present mood may attempt to attack me," I said, "so they're staying close to me. But Edith has a phobia against seeing either of them, so they're keeping out of sight."

"She probably hasn't anywhere near the phobia that they cherish about her," my husband said caustically. "And what nice, mild words you use! 'Mood' for instance. Ede's as crazy as any loon that ever used a tree top for a broadcasting station. She may snap out of it, but she's distinctly bad medicine just now.

"I shall feel a lot safer about you," he went on, "now that I know old Lil and Katrina are on the job. They're a powerful team, that pair. Please give them my thanks and my blessing. I'd stop myself and see them. I must fly."

He gave me a casual kiss, and turned away, but I clutched his sleeve.

"Will you see me the first minute you can when this work of father's is done?" I asked insistently.

His eyebrows rose, and he jerked a thumb back toward the room where he had deposited Edith.

"Ede?" he whispered.

"Yes. I simply must see you about her," I whisperd back.

His face darkened, and set stubbornly

"I don't want any part of it," he said obstinately.

I despise the tactics of "coaxing women," but in my desperation I employed them. I put my hands on his coat and pulled him slightly toward me.

"Please, Dicky!" I implored. "I don't often ask you to do things you don't want to do, but this means a lot to me. Please! at least let me tell you about it as soon as you're free to talk!"

He looked down at me with something inscrutable in his eyes, then suddenly capitulated

"Well! it seems to be your funeral," he said. "I'll drop around as soon as I can get free."

"Oh! thank you!" I said with real gratitude, but my words were lost as my husband caught me to him in a rough, quick embrace.

"You're the world's biggest simpleton and best scout," he murmured, and his kiss was warm upon my lips as I went into my little study, feeling that I had a "panoply of armor" to meet any problem that should face me there.

Miss Whitlock was standing in such a position that Edith could not see her face, although the nurse had a good view of her patient. And as I came in she signaled that everything was all right so far.

Edith was lying back against the pillows of the bed we had set up for her. Her eyes, watching the doorway, were haunted, but there was that in them which told me I had given her something infinitely precious in arranging for Dicky to carry her downstairs.

"Madge!" she said imperatively as I came into the room, and I crossed quickly to her side, conscious that Miss Whitlock was watching her carefully

"Yes, Ede," I said as I reached her. She put up her hand and caught mine, and I saw the nurse move unobtrusively to the bedside, and realized that she was taking no risk whatever of the consequences that might follow the possible snapping of the slender link which kept Edith Fairfax from insanity.

Eastern Oregon Still Teems With Wild Life.

PORTLAND — (U.P.) — Ninety-seven years ago the United States government launched a campaign to conquer and settle the Hart Mountain country of Eastern Oregon, but today—despite three decades of military operations and nearly a century of exploitation—the territory still is dominated by the lesser members of the animal kingdom.

Since 1936, the antelope and the mountain lions' prior claims have had official Federal recognition, for in that year the 215,516-acre district officially was designated as a wild-life sanctuary.

Although it was first established as a haven for the rapidly dwindling antelope family, a 1940 biological survey report has revealed the presence of 36 other mammals and 120 varieties of birds.

Among the animals found in the refuge were antelopes, squirrels, rabbits, pocket gophers, mountain lions, bobcats and others. Included in the list of resident and other birds were Canada geese, quail, hawks, owls, swallows, warblers, kinglets and sparrows.

7 COUNTY TAXING DISTRICTS TO GET REDUCTION IN RATES

Shelby and six of Richland's county's seven incorporated villages will have reduced tax rates next year, while Mansfield's rate will remain unchanged at 16 mills, Deputy County Auditor Arthur S. Beck said today.

The Shelby rate will drop .20 of a mill, from 17 mills this year to 16.80 mills in 1941.

The new village rates and the reductions are:

Butler, 17.60 mills, down .20 of a mill; Bellville 16.60 mills, down .20 of a mill; Lucas, 15.40 mills, down .20 of a mill; Lexington, 21.70 mills, down .30 of a mill; Plymouth, 13.80 mills, down .60 of a mill; Shiloh, 15.40, down .10 of a mill.

Only village to show an increase is South Boulevards which will see its rate go up to 16.60 mills from 14.60 this year, The two-mill increase is due to a bond issue voted last year to finance the installation of a sewer system.

Madison township's rate will be unchanged at 13.60 mills, Beck said. Lexington will still have the highest tax rate in the county at 21.70 mills.

Most of the reductions, it was said, are due to the expiration of tax levies or the reduction of bonded indebtedness, requiring less interest and debt retirement money.

ON PROBATION

ASHLAND — Under indictment for forgery of a check, Edward James Hartman was given a suspended sentence by Judge H. E. Culbertson on being arraigned in common pleas court.

Hartman was placed on probation after the judge ordered him to pay back $15 allegedly forged for, the court costs, and to report to the court once a month.

DIVORCE GRANTED

ASHLAND—Decree of divorce was granted here to Amanda Alice Moreland from Guy Moreland, after the latter was adjudged guilty of extreme cruelty. Mrs. Moreland was given a property settlement, and custody of the couple's minor children.

Announcing the big
NEW 1941 FORD

In some years, some cars take a big jump ahead. The Ford does that for 1941.

It has jumped ahead in size. It's the biggest Ford we've ever built, inside and out. It's wider. It has a longer wheelbase. Its seating room is wider by as much as 7 inches. It has new wide doors and semi-concealed running boards.

You'll notice also a new beauty, achieved by a skilful blending of mass with longer flowing lines. Larger windshield and windows give better vision all around.

One of its biggest advantages is the new soft ride. New, slower-action springs give a slow, gentle, gliding movement. A newly designed stabilizer helps absorb road shocks, and maintains balance on sharp curves and in cross winds.

More rapid acceleration to match its familiar speed and power makes this new Ford an even more spirited car to drive.

These are only a few of this new car's outstanding features. It represents all the rich experience gained in building more than 28 million cars.

Any Ford dealer can give you many more good reasons for making this BIG new Ford your 1941 car.

Permanent Draft Legislation Asked From Congress

LOWER AGE FOR SERVICE URGED BY ADJUTANTS

18-Year Start for Training Gets Endorsement of Guard Officers.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The next congress will be asked to make the present five-year draft law permanent, it was learned today as details for registration of 16,500,000 men of conscription age 20 days hence were worked out between national and state draft officials.

Informed circles also predicted that the congress convening in January would be asked to lower the age limit for compulsory military training from 21 to 18 years.

Many state adjutant generals, attending a conference with national draft board officials in the capital, endorsed lowering the age limit. They included Brig. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh of Minnesota. He said:

"I think it was a grave mistake not to place the age minimum at 18 years in the first place. Probably 95 per cent of the youngsters finish preliminary schooling at that age, and it would be the best time to place them in training."

Iowa's adjutant, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Grahl, pointed out:

"Such a minimum would permit most boys to serve their year in training without disrupting plans for their life ahead. I believe it should be done."

Meanwhile, it was learned that a plan for a permanent system of universal training will be prepared on Capitol Hill.

The state adjutants came to Washington to receive final and detailed instructions on carrying out all registration of all men between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, on Oct. 16. All of them assured national officials that registration would be carried out without a hitch. Most reported that regular election machinery of the states would be used. South Carolina, however, planned to use its educational plant.

The state officials, who will act as military advisers in setting up conscription machinery, also reported that plans for setting up the 6,500 local boards throughout the country are about complete.

Announcement of personnel of local boards awaits naming of a national draft board head. Although President Roosevelt signed the draft bill 10 days ago, he has yet to nominate the man who will fill the $10,000-a-year job of administrator of the selective service system. He is expected to make the appointment this week.

Another development expected soon is promulgation by the president of regulations for "classification and selection" of the conscripts once registration is over. Preparation of the rules, which will set up provisions for deferment of men in so-called essential jobs in industry, is the toughest job confronting the draft board.

The rules also will cover deferments or "exemptions" to be granted those with dependents. The provisions of the act regarding occupational and dependency deferments are so broad, draft board lawyers stated, that great care must be taken to forestall draft-dodging and possible favoritism.

Despite the trouble being encountered in writing the regulations, the "draft" schedule still is: Registration, Oct. 16, numbering of registration cards by local boards, Oct. 17 to 23; national lottery to determine in what order conscripts are called up, Oct. 23 to 26; classification of concripts Oct. 26 to 31, and quota-fixing and induction of the first conscripts into the army by Nov. 15.

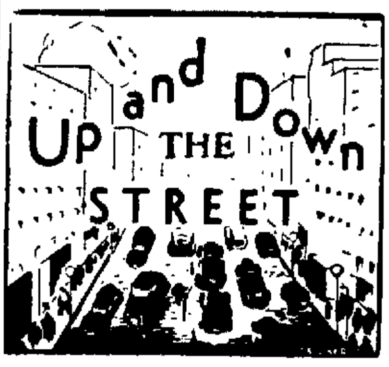
Lorain Dedicates Two New Bridges As 50,000 Watch

LORAIN—(AP)—Lorain's citizens today proudly surveyed two new bridges across the Black river—the final steps in the $7,000,000 development of the city's natural harbor.

The snipping of ribbons officially dedicated the spans last night at a ceremony which attracted nearly 50,000 spectators. Scores of small boats, their whistles sounding, lined the river.

Congressman Dow W. Harter of Akron gave the dedicatory address at the 1,700-foot central high level structure, and Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland spoke at the Erie avenue Bascule bridge—the world's largest span of this type.

The bridges were constructed at a cost of approximately $3,000,000. Neither bridge will be opened until completion of remaining construction work and street paving, expected to be finished in 30 days.



Up and Down THE STREET

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton had a new chair in his office today. It's a neat swivel type piece of furniture with red leather upholstering. The chair was installed on approval and the director expressed doubt as to whether the city would have funds to purchase the equipment to replace the old chair that has been in the office for the past 15 years. He says he hasn't yet been able to get a trade-in price on the old one.

A puff ball story to end all puff ball stories was told today by members of the county road department who said a WPA road foreman found one of the big fungus globes in Cass township that was more than 54 inches in circumference. The ball was bigger than the biggest pumpkins grown in this section and if it was the edible variety it would have made a big "mushroom" meal for several persons.

A few days ago, while traveling on a highway near Mansfield, Richard Olin, Douglas avenue, saw a pigeon hit by a car. The pigeon was so badly injured by the blow that it could not fly, so Olin stopped his automobile and rescued the bird. Upon close examination, Olin found that it was a carrier pigeon. Two metal bands were attached to the legs of the bird, with the name of the owner and his address stamped on the bands. He immediately wrote the owner of the pigeon a letter, explaining what had happened to his property. But yesterday when he looked in a box where he had kept the bird he found it was gone.

You Can't Print The Names: A group of Mansfield young men gathered at an apartment house for a farewell party to one of the members. No one knows where it came from, but a saw turned up and the men, being pretty "high" decided it would be fun to saw the banister in two. Egging them on was the landlord. The banister was of solid walnut and difficult to replace. But it was lots of fun—until the next day when the landlord had to have the damage repaired.

ACQUITTED

Two Wooster Youths Freed of Delinquency Charge.

Two Wooster youths, accused of contributing to the delinquency of two Mansfield school girls last week-end, were acquitted yesterday in county juvenile court and permitted to return to their homes.

The boys, both 22, are Harold Karns and Ellsworth Douglas. They admitted taking two Mansfield girls, 14 and 15 years old, to Lakeville and buying them beer, but they denied that the girls were harmed. The girls admitted they had been with several other boys and had hitch-hiked home.

Meanwhile, Judge C. J. Anderson withheld sentence today in the case of John Snouffer, 44, South Boulevards, who pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 10-year-old girl. Juvenile court authorities today were investigating Snouffer's record for Judge Anderson who accepted the plea.

PAY OLD DEBT

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(INS)—A debt due in 1901 will now be paid by the state of Alabama. A local resident found a $12.50 bond coupon while rummaging through some old papers. Experts examined it and declared it genuine. State Finance Director A. R. Forsyth said it was as valid as the day it was issued and that the debt would be paid.

SUSPECT SOUGHT IN SEX MURDER

Quick Break in Pennsylvania Attack Slaying Foreseen By Officials.

(By International News Service)

ABINGTON, Pa.—State troopers and Montgomery county detectives today launched search for an unnamed but reportedly definite suspect in the brutal, mutilation murder of 35-year-old Mrs. Ethel Craft Atkins, once related by marriage to the wealthy Duke tobacco family.

An arrest—perhaps "in a matter of hours"—was predicted in unofficial, but informed, circles, as investigation continued into the slaying of the comely red-haired woman in an unoccupied Horsham, Pa., farmhouse, early Tuesday night.

District Attorney Fred Smillie, working on the third Montgomery county attack slaying in three years, admitted he hoped for a "quick break" in the case, but declined to discuss details of the man hunt.

Meanwhile, the slain woman's first husband, John C. Angier, of Baltimore, a second cousin of Doris Duke Cromwell, was released by Smillie after coming to this area voluntarily for two-hours questioning by the district attorney.

Angier, who said he had not seen his first wife for 12 years, prepared to return to his building business and home in Maryland but promised to remain "available" for further questioning, Smillie said. Mrs. Atkins, a former Philadelphia waitress, married Angier in 1921 and separated from him seven years later.

A definite suspect in the slaying developed after Montgomery county authorities talked with both Angier and the woman's second husband, James F. Atkins, of Philadelphia, formerly a sailor but now employed at the Baldwin Locomotive works in Eddystone, Pa.

GOVERNOR DRAWS UP PLANS TO NAME DRAFT BOARDS IN OHIO

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Governor Bricker expects to begin selection of local draft boards for Ohio within the next day or so.

The governor at a press conference said letters would go out to presiding common pleas judge in each county, the probate judge and a third member to be selected by them asking them to make recommendations.

There will be [illegible] members on each draft board. The local recommendations, although they probably will be followed in most cases by the governor in submitting the lists of names for presidential appointments, are not binding upon him.

Present plans call for about 338 local draft boards whose members will serve without compensation. Clerk hire will be paid from federal funds.

The governor also was prepared to begin soon selection of the nine appeals boards and the district registrants' advisory boards.

It was understood that selection of a state selective service director would not be made until it has been determined whether Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light, Toledo, adjutant general of the national guard, passed the army physical examination which would permit him to command his troops in the field when they enter federal service, beginning October 15. Governor Bricker wants to retain him as state draft director, if possible.

At Fort Hayes, headquarters of the army fifth corps area, a board of inquiry began preparation of a report on the activities of Col. Emil F. Marx, St. Marys, while he was adjutant general of Ohio. The report will be based on an investigation to determine whether Colonel Marx should be relieved of federal recognition. The finding will be forwarded to the war department.

GIRLS SEWING

Junior Red Cross Members Launch New Program.

Girl members of Junior Red Cross will launch a program of sewing and knitting for one hour every evening after school, according to plans made yesterday by the Junior sponsors.

The Juniors have taken on a large sewing and knitting project in connection with the Red Cross war relief program and have promised to make 150 children's sweaters by the end of the year.

The older girls—those of senior and Junior high—will make the sweaters, while the younger girls from the grade schools will knit small blocks and sew them together for afghans. They will also make comforter tops with scraps of dress material.

The work will be done at the Red Cross sewing room, 12½ West Fourth street, with different schools assigned certain nights. The schedule will be announced later, according to Miss Lucille Lorow, chairman.

New Deal Elects M'Cormack House Leader

PARTY CAUCUS SHOWS POWER OF ROOSEVELT

Rep. Woodrum Defeated For Post; Had Opposed Labor Policies.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON The power of President Roosevelt's renomination to swing balky Democrats back into the New Deal procession is being demonstrated today in the house of representatives where 48 year-old John W. McCormack begins his term as majority leader.

McCormack was elected yesterday to the leadership vacated by elevation of Rep. Sam Rayburn, D., Tex., to the speakership.

The caucus of Democrats who were bolting all over the place prior to Mr. Roosevelt's third nomination last July dealt conservatives two blows in succession.

The Democrats refused to postpone the election of a majority leader until Jan. 3 when the 77th congress convenes. They then chose McCormack, a New Dealer, over Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum, D., Va., who has bucked the administration on labor and spending policies. McCormack is a Boston lawyer who entered the house in 1929.

Democrats in this congress cannot bind Democrats in the next on leadership. The consensus is that a sharp New Deal reverse at the polls in November might persuade house Democrats to return McCormack to the ranks next January. But if Mr. Roosevelt comes through in a big way, the house and senate leadership in the 77th congress will remain in the hands of men who helped promote the third term and whose records assure close co-operation with the White House.

Willkie Outlines Heavy October

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN ENROUTE TO OMAHA—(AP)—Back in the midwest for a speech at Omaha tonight at 9:30 p. m. (EST) outlining his views on raising farm income, Wendell L. Willkie formulated today a heavy October campaign schedule calling for 20 major addresses in key states.

As the Republican presidential nominee swung down through South Dakota after a two weeks tour of the west, he arranged to devote the remainder of his drive for votes to the populous eastern half of the country.

He will speak on foreign policy in Cleveland Oct. 2, when he said he would offer further evidence criticizing President Roosevelt's handling of international problems. The address will be broadcast over the Blue network of the National Broadcasting company from 9:30 to 10 p. m. (EST).

Willkie described the Cleveland speech as one of the "major" addresses of his campaign.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

You Meet Such Interesting People.

(And It's the Little Things You Remember.)

If his coat collar is turned up and he's going into 21 and he looks like a jockey, that's Burgess Meredith. . . . Lela Rogers is so mad about dancing and so vivacious on the Stork Club parquet that you get the feeling she ought to be teamed with Fred Astaire, now that her daughter Ginger is sold to the non-dancing drama.

Beatrice Lillie sleeps with waxed cotton in her ears so the city noises won't intrude on her dreams. . . . Max Reinhardt's funny faces when he directs actors are hilarious to watch, but Jimmy Cagney's imitation of Reinhardt's faces is even funnier.

Bing Crosby's youngest son, Lenny is already showing signs of following in his daddy's footsteps. He can hum the entire melody of Brahms' lullaby. He learned it because it's the theme song of a radio program his nurse listens to!

* * *

Franchot Tone frequently lugs an umbrella with him as he makes the rounds on the night trick. . . . Dorothy Gish washes her stockings every night before she goes to bed. Just like saying her prayers. . . . You can tell when Benny Goodman is thinking hard—he pulls his lower lip, right at the spot where he's got a little clarinet callous. . . . Billy Rose and Damon Runyon are Broadway's best known non-drinkers. Rose always sips orange juice.

Runyon drinks black coffee in the bistros. Damon also, for a long while, went around saying to folks, "I can't understand how people eat lunch. Now I, for example, never eat lunch;" and he would sit around and pat his waistline while his colleagues wrapped themselves around a blue plate special.

This was all very well and I swallowed it without comment until one morning I happened to run into Damon while he was eating a 12:47 "breakfast."

He started with orange juice, went through a melon, scrambled eggs and bacon, wheat cakes and sausages, buttered toast with marmalade, and coffee, finishing off, if I am not mistaken, with a large slice of deep dish apple pie a la cheese.

Since that time I have never wondered why Damon Runyon could not seem to get interested in a bite of lunch.

* * *

Jed Harris can write backwards as fast as he can write frontwards. . . . Larry Hart, the lyric architect, paces night club floors between drinks in a nervous reverie. . . . Jinx Falkenberg who migrated from Hollywood to the Jolson show, gets more requests for her 'phone number than any girl in town.

Lionel Stander looks like and talks like a Union Squarite, but the places he patronizes are Capitalistic joints like 21 and El Stork.

Eddie Davis, the cab driver who wrote the book for "Hold Onto Your Hats," used to sleep in the park when he was poor. Now he has a room at the Edison, but at night he dreams he's still sleeping in the park.

Theodore Dreiser looks formidable in a 6-gallon black sombrero, and once, when he sat next to me in a Wilkes-Barre courtroom at a murder trial, he kept all the reporters' minds off the q. and a. by strolling in with two beautiful secretaries, to whom he dictated his story.

One secretary was blond, and the other brunet, but the boys could never decide which one they thought had the most "oomph."

* * *

A lot of people don't recognize Phyllis Brooks in the midnight cafes because she's a coiffure-switcher. One night her hair is up, one night it's down—one night it's in curls, the next evening it's straight. She has a restless comb and brush.

Jock Whitney is one of the more informal millionaires around town. He pioneered in the soft-shirt-with-dinner-jacket vogue, which took 98 per cent of the lads out of the boiled shirt class.

Whenever I see Ted (Is Everybody Happy?) Lewis, I feel like asking, "Is Anybody Happy?" he looks so gloomy. I guess he saves his effervescence for the performances.

Jimmy Stewart gets corn-belt roles and comes through on celluloid in a faintly yokel fashion, but in Jack and Charlie's at 1:57 p. m. Thursday he looked like a city smoothie.

Harry Richman won't do the rhumba with anyone but his wife, Hazel Forbes, because she taught him how and he's shy about trying it with anyone else. . . . Peggy Hopkins Joyce is just naturally lucky. One night during the Prohibition era she was sipping champagne in a nightspot in the West 40's when her escort asked her to dance.

As she got up from the table Peggy handed her purse to George Immerman (who used to own Connie's Inn in the old Harlem days) and asked him to hold it for her while she danced.

A few seconds later three lads with guns walked in and held up the place. They frisked—and cleaned out—everyone in the club except the few persons they knew: the entertainers, night club operators and a newspaperman or two.

After they had left Immerman gave the purse back to Peggy, who was astonished that it hadn't been stolen.

"Why" asked George. "What's in it—anything valuable?"

"Nothing much," said Peggy. "Only a couple of hundred thousand dollars worth of diamonds!"

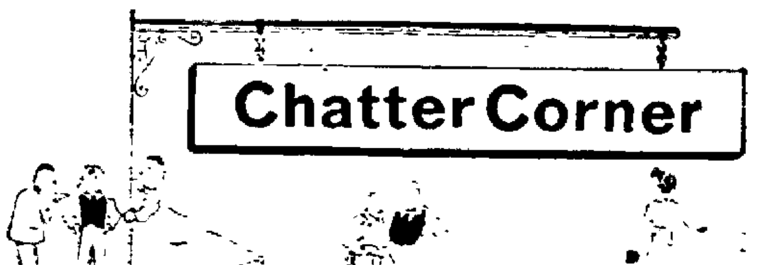
An item in this column some days back, concerning George S. Kaufman's curiosity about other people's mail, notes and other private papers, recalled to one of his friends the incident that occurred when he was collaborating with Edna Ferber on "The Royal Family."

They did a lot of the writing up at Miss Ferber's place, and the authoress was well aware that every time she left the room George could not resist peeping at the letters left around.

Finally one day she sent a telegram addressed to Kaufman, opened it, and put it in the middle of the pile of papers on her desk.

During their story conference that day she left the room, and sure enough, Kaufman gravitated to the pile of papers. With a slight start he came to the telegram addressed to him. Its message read:

Chatter Corner



(Just jottings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

City Busman C. C. Teeter craning his neck to see if it was his little dog that was killed by a car on Glessner avenue. . . . Paul (Farmers Bank) Eliot and Atty. Marshall Moore in a huddle on North Main street. . . . Mrs. Jack Berno window shopping on Main street.

* * *

Virginia Palmer tabulating the votes Johnny Appleseed students turned in to name their football team this year. . . . H. D. Bishop waxing proud over the way the Hi-Y clubs at Senior high school are functioning this year. . . . Pee Wee Lantz jerking sodas in between dance tunes at the Shaw drug store.

Mrs. William G. Cappeller offering her best wishes to a recently married couple. . . . Mrs. Russel Decker announcing she was enroute to check on the progress of the West Fourth street fiesta. . . . Seen among the shoppers in a downtown dress store: Mrs. Randall Barrett . . . Gerry Locke. Eugene Weinberger chatting on Fourth street with a friend about his Little Symphony. . . . Esther Lantz and Marguerite Spreas lunching together.

Belle Anderson, Park avenue west, breathless over trying to sell her furniture, pack some of her goods and saying farewell to life long friends in anticipation of her moving to Oakland, Cal., in two weeks. Tribe Must Turn Back Detroit In All Three Contests

Team Scores Win

Indians Register 4 to 2 Victory as Milnar Halts Browns.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Don't look now, but the Cleveland Indians can still capture the American league pennant by sweeping the three-game Detroit series—if the Yankees drop one of their remaining six starts.

* * *

That may sound like whistling in the dark, but the whistlers include several gentlemen who inhabit Manager Oscar Vitt's storm-tossed wigwam.

* * *

"We are good enough. Why shouldn't we sweep the series?" demanded Captain Hal Trosky.

Beau Bell, pasture roamer for the 1939 Tigers, declared "Detroit wasn't good enough to win the flag last year. The only place they have improved is having Dick Bartell at short. We have to beat 'em three straight and we will."

It was Al Milnar, home-town southpaw, who hurled a 4 to 2 decision over St. Louis yesterday as the Tigers were taking a twin bill to pull two full games ahead.

Both Cleveland and Detroit rest up today for their flag series starting Friday in the wide open spaces of Cleveland stadium.

"I hope they start Schoolboy Rowe," remarked Vitt. "With Bobby Feller in there we'll pin his ears back."

The Indians will go into the flag-deciding series with one advantage—the outfield of the lakefront seat warehouse is so vast that blows which fall for extra bases in Detroit become easy outfield flies.

The Indians obtained only seven hits yesterday off Vernon Kennedy but the Brownie righthander had a charitable streak to help the Indians break even with the sixth-placers for the season at 11 games apiece.

Two men were out in the fourth inning when trouble blew up for Kennedy. Ken Keltner singled and the St. Louis hurler became an unhappy man when he issued walks to Ray Mack, Frankie Pytlak and Milnar to force in a run.

That brought up Ben Chapman, who bopped a single to plate Mack and Pytlak for a 4 to 0 advantage, since the Indians had obtained a run in the first.

Incidentally, a decision in the case of the players vs. Vitt is expected before the talkative Tribe manager returns to his California winter hiding place soon after the season ends.

* * *

A rebellion heated the wigwam several months ago but was hushed as the club concentrated on trying to take the flag. Vitt is winding up a one-year contract, and his third season as Cleveland's pilot.

* * *

A lot of people think President Alva Bradley, who changes the subject whenever the rebellion is brought up, will give Oscar the business if Vitt doesn't beat him to it by quitting.

Walter Fensch Collects Brilliant 721 Total

Kegler Scores New Mark In Westinghouse League At Meder Alleys.

THE HONOR of registering the first 700 total at the Meder Recreation alleys in the 1940-41 season goes to Walter Fensch.

Several keglers have topped the 600 mark, but Fensch showed them all how to do it last night while bowling with the Merchandise Service team in the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company league.

* * *

Banging out a nifty 245 in his opening game, Fensch dropped to 224 in the middle affair and then came back with a sensational 257 for his spectacular score.

* * *

He paced his club to two wins over the Accounting team. The Merchandise outfit came through with a 2539 team total.

O. Grable and P. Swigart trailed Fensch. Swigart, who hit a 243 in his initial game, and Grable ended up with 556's.

Four of Elyria's Ace Grid Players

CAPT. BOB JABUSCH, guard

ERNIE CURCILLO, fullback

AL MEYER, halfback

ED GUTOWSKI, halfback

By CHARLES MARTIN
News-Journal Sports Editor.

MANSFIELD high football fans will have an opportunity to see some of the Lake Erie grid league's outstanding players when Elyria moves into Stadium field at 8 p. m. Friday to engage the Mansfield Tygers.

* * *

Among the stars performing with the touted Elyria club are Capt. Bob Jabusch, one of the finest guards in the league. He will be at right guard against the Tygers.

* * *

Al Meyer, halfback and leading running and passing star, is the sparkplug of the unbeaten Elyria combine. He has been on the sidelines with a knee injury, but Coach Roy Clymer expects him to be available for duty Friday.

Meyer was sent into the lineup against Sandusky last week and scored the winning touchdown as Elyria won, 13 to 6.

Ed Gutowski is the speedster of the backs. He broke loose on the kickoff for a 91-yard touchdown run against Sandusky. He is a letterman and a nifty blocker.

Another star is Ernie Curcillo, fullback. He does most of the passing and is a great broken field runner.

Mansfield high's chances of victory dropped several notches today when it was learned that Adam Brandt and Martin Henke, two regular backs, may not see action for more than a period Friday.

Henke is nursing a knee injury and it has not responded to treatment as expected. Brandt is ill with a sore throat and has not reported for practice this week.

* * *

Otherwise the Tyger squad is in excellent shape and Coach Paul Snyder is busy drilling his athletes on pass defense and blocking. Elyria, with 10 veterans in the starting lineup, will enter the affray as a slight favorite, but a couple of breaks can turn the tide in favor of the Tygers.

* * *

The Tygers will be seeking their third straight triumph. Replacing Henke and Brandt Friday night will be Jim Templeton and Louis Nameth. Both have been impressive in practice sessions and Snyder thinks they may be able to hold their own.

Pat Comiskey Favored Over Maxie Baer

Young Heavyweight Enters Ring at 5-7 Choice.

* * *

One betting commissioner, enjoying his 4 a. m. cheese blintzes in Lindy's, estimated $100,000 of Comiskey money suddenly had appeared. As a result, the odds on the tussle in the local ball park immediately jumped in favor of the big-jawed Irish kid with the solid right hand, establishing him as choice at 5 to 7 or 8.

* * *

Most of the folks in the know, however, guffawed at the talk of "something doing" which buzzed all along Bash Boulevard as a result of this show of "fresh."

* * *

Confronted with reports of "business" on the bout, they pointed out (1) Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, are reported to have bet more than $10,000, themselves, on Maxie to win.

(2) Baer has a contract to appear in a Broadway show, hinging on his victory in this 15-round brawl, and (3) although the ex-playboy champion is, as always, the question mark of fistiana, and that not even he knows how he'll feel when he climbs into the ring about 9 p. m. (E. S. T.), he still regards pounding Pat as a "fresh young punk" to be flattened.

Mt. Gilead Rips Bulldogs

Indians Tally Twice in First Period to Win.

MT. GILEAD — Butler high's Bulldogs dropped a 19 to 7 decision to the Mt. Gilead grid forces in a contest here yesterday. The game was scheduled for Friday, but was moved up as a fair attraction.

* * *

Led by Jim Fate, the Indians struck pay dirt twice in the initial period to take a lead that was never relinquished. The Mt. Gilead outfit added another marker in the final chapter.

* * *

Meanwhile, Butler, seeking its second straight victory, managed to move over the goal line in the third stanza. The Bulldogs, incidentally, suffered another loss in the second period when Elwin Harris, 180-pound fullback, suffered a brain concussion. He was still unconscious early today, but not in immediate danger, according to the Butler high club physician.

Fate scored the first two touchdowns on runs of 45 yards each in the initial frame. He added an extra point from placement. An aerial attack set the stage for the Butler score and Jack Wilson scored from the three. Grubb added the point on a pass. A Brose to West pass was good for 40 yards and the final touchdown. Butler piled up 18 first downs to Mt. Gilead's 12.

* * *

Crestline will go after its 11th straight triumph against Marion St. Mary's under the lights. Last Friday Crestline scored an impressive 21 to 0 triumph over the Galion high school Orangemen.

In an afternoon contest in this vicinity tomorrow Bellville high will be out for its third straight victory under its new coach C. L. Lindsay, when it tackles a dangerous Fredericktown outfit. Bellville defeated Granville 39 to 0 last week.

The Madison Rams will be out after their first win of the 1940 season tomorrow when they travel to Uhrichsville to meet a powerful Dennison high team. Madison's team has been greatly weakened with the loss of nine players.

* * *

Shelby's Whippets invade Ashland for a night game in the only game in the North Central Ohio conference this week. Other NCO clubs will play non-conference clubs. Galion plays at Norwalk, Coshocton performs at Mt. Vernon, Bucyrus entertains Upper Sandusky and Marion travels to Piqua.

* * *

* * *

The race is to include six events, with $300 in prize money going to the winners, according to Kimes. Riders will be divided into three divisions, novice, amateur and experts.

* * *

Jim Davis, Columbus, old-time A. M. A. racing referee will be here for the event.

CHICAGO CARDINALS UPSET BEARS GRIDDERS, 21 TO 7

CHICAGO — (INS) — For the first time in years, Chicago pro football fans knew for a certainty today that they have two representatives in the National Professional Football league.

The Cardinals, long the step-child eleven of the league, proved themselves as a club to be reckoned with last night when, before 23,151 unbelieving but cheering partisans in Comiskey park, they upset the mighty Chicago Bears, 21 to 7.

Team Marked Up Undefeated Record in 1939.

TOLEDO — (AP) — Undefeated in its first season of football, De Sales college has virtually the entire 1939 squad working out in preparation for the 1940 opener against Ball State Teachers' college at Muncie, Ind., on Saturday.

* * *

The sailors took the championship of the Michigan-Ontario league last fall.

Coach Al Sackstedor, drilling 35 players, indicated that this year's starting lineup would carry more weight. The line is expected to average 190 pounds, and the backs about 20 pounds less.

Because of a smaller enrollment than carried by most of their football opponents, the sailors again will play freshmen.

Sackstedor will build his backfield around Kenny Herman, Hank Miesle, Ted Sarahman, Jack Blackburn, Paul Schreiber, Ed Dorebek and Bob Smith.

Leaders in the battle for tackle and guard positions include Norbert Snyder, Paul Siebenick, Paul Thomas, Dan Jachimiak, Al Szychowski, Owen Zierbold, Lynn Gross and Ed Rieman.

Paul Mosser and Bill LaLond are due to hold down the center post with Don Smith, George Navotny, Bob Nienberg and Bernie Sebenick the pick of the ends.

RACE POSTPONED

LEXINGTON, Ky. — (INS) — Followers of harness racing hoped the weather would let up today so the grand circuit racing at Lexington could resume. Yesterday's events were postponed until today because of the muddy condition of the track.

Tigers Are Holding All Aces In American League 'Showdown'

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer.)

THE American league at last has reached the showdown stage in its furious pennant struggle and the Detroit Tigers are holding all the aces.

* * *

Their double victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday was all they needed. They now can eliminate the Cleveland Indians by winning any one of the three games the two teams have with each other this week-end. And they can brush off the New York Yankees by winning two of them.

* * *

The standings today are:

Club	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.	T.P.
Detroit	89	62	.589	..	3
Cleveland	87	64	.576	2	3
New York	84	64	.568	3½	6

It is readily apparent that neither Cleveland nor New York can win except through Detroit losing two games to come down to their level in the lost column.

The Yankees still could get a tie by winning all their remaining games if Cleveland knocked off the Tigers in two or all three games In the first case it would be a deadlock with Detroit and in the second with Cleveland. The champions already have won six in a row, however, and to expect them to win six more in four days is stretching the imagination to the breaking point, even against Philadelphia and Washington.

They have a doubleheader today with the A's while Detroit and Cleveland gird for their final series opening tomorrow in Cleveland.

The Indians kept in the pennant fight yesterday by beating the St. Louis Browns 4-2 as Al Milnar bested Vernon Kennedy in a hurling duel.

The Tigers took two thrillers from the White Sox, who had won 13 of their 20 previous engagements. Buck Newsom get credit for both, bringing his victory total to 21 for the year. The scores were 10-9, in 10 innings, and 3-2.

The first game see-sawed back and forth with Chicago apparently nailing it down in the fifth when they routed Tommy Bridges by a six-run explosion. But the Tigers clawed back courageously, tying up the count in the eighth. Newsom went to the mound at the start of the ninth, allowed one hit in two innings, and profited when Rudy York doubled with two on in the tenth.

When big Bobo came right back at the start of the nightcap everyone was surprised. When he gave a triple to Luke Appling and a home run to Larry Rosenthal for two runs in the second inning it looked like a mistake. Then Buck pitched shutout ball the rest of the way and his mates finally broke through the tight pitching of Johnny Rigney, who allowed only one hit in six innings. Hank Greenberg hit his 41st homer in the seventh, and two singles and a fly by York sent over the winning run in the eighth.

* * *

The Cincinnati Reds divided a doubleheader with the St. Louis Cardinals, taking the first game 5-0 with Junior Thompson pitching magnificent two-hit ball. However, Johnny Mize notched his 42nd home run to lead the Redbirds to a 4-3 decision over Buck Walters in the second game.

* * *

The Chicago Cubs captured both ends of a twin bill f om the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1 and 6-4, and moved within one game of fourth place in the National league.

Reds, Cards Stage Furious Loop Battles

Thompson Gives Up 2 Hits In Annexing Game.

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— The way the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals are cutting each other's throats in this wind-up series, you'd think something was at stake.

* * *

Yesterday the Reds, behind Gene Thompson's two-hit pitching, knocked off the Cards, 5 to 0, in the first game of a twin bill, and then the Cards came back and bumped Bucky Walters for a 4-3 victory in the nightcap.

* * *

Today there's another double feature and about all it can prove is that the Reds may or may not achieve their goal of 100 victories this year. They have to win three of their remaining five games—today's two and three at home with the Pittsburgh Pirates—to do it.

The worst that can happen to the Cards, if they lose today and the other four games left to them, is a tie for third place with the Pirates.

* * *

Thompson's job was his best of the year. Enos Slaughter was the only thing between the big sophomore and a no-hitter, but Enos stood there twice with a double and a single.

* * *

Walters' control was somewhat seedy in the second game, and with Johnny Mize hitting a homer, double and single, the Cards kept the situation under control. The Reds outhit the Cards, 12 to 8, but the safeties didn't come in the right combination.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE.

NEW YORK—There are few things more pathetic to watch than the suffering of big, strong men.

* * *

This is particularly true when they're suffering about $5,800 each.

* * *

I know, because yesterday I watched some big and strong men hard at work suffering. They were New York Yankees, who unable to play themselves because of rain, had to sit by radios and listen to the Detroit Tigers move closer to the American League pennant and a shot at the world series swag.

I visited Joe Gordon at home and the description of the first game of the double-header between the Tigers and White Sox was coming in full blast. The White Sox didn't know it, but Joe was playing second base for them during that game

With the Yankee's slim chance of winning the pennant dependent on somebody knocking off the leading Tigers, Gorden couldn't have been more tense had he been playing in a series game himself.

Over in a corner of the room, trying to read a magazine but having poor luck, was Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher and a fellow who knows more about the strength and weakness of American league batters than anyone in the business.

When the Tigers came up for their half of the 10th inning, with the score tied at nine-all, Bill laid down his magazine and began advising the White Sox pitcher, Clint Brown, as to what to throw.

When McCosky opened the inning with a single and Gehringer sacrificed him to second, Bill and Joe went into a hasty conference.

"They gotta walk Greenberg," Gordon said.

"Yeah, they gotta walk him They will."

With McCosky on second with the winning run, Greenberg on first and Rudy York up, Dickey really went to work in an effort to contact the Sox pitcher by mental telepathy and tell him what to pitch.

"Don't give him a good one, Clint, don't give him a good one," Bill counselled. "And whatever you do, don't get that curve ball inside. He'll pickle it"

"Guess Clint didn't hear you, Bill," Joe said

Between games, Charley Keller called up from a nearby hotel to lament over the Tigers' win, but said the Yanks were still in the fight.

"We still get a chance if we win all the rest of our games," the slugging outfielder said, "and we'll do it. Lawdy, if we could only replay some of those games we lost earlier in the year. I mean those where we blew three and four run leads in the ninth inning."

* * *

Charley's voice packed the frustration that only a man who has seen $5,800 in dollar bills floating away on the breeze could feel.

* * *

Then the second game started and Joe started going to his left and right for imaginary grounders and Dickey settled down to the job of out-thinking the Detroit hitters.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Knowing that Ann was enjoying the absence of an alarm clock, she did not disturb her but went directly down the broad curving stairs to the desk and picked up a time-table.

"Are you leaving us, Miss Tallant?" The young clerk asked regretfully.

"I'm afraid so,' and added, "but not because of the rain."

No, not because of the rain, my pleasant young friend, but because Edwina Burke happened to use her car brakes at the wrong moment on a certain day in May.

* * *

Walking to the entrance, as she had done each morning since she came for a glimpse of the encircling mountains, she thought of Edwina with a twinge of pity which she knew Edwina would keenly resent. But it was like the end of a long reign, the end of a dynasty, Edwina's leaving Newton to become one obscure girl among millions of obscure girls in New York Carol thought: It isn't fair that I should have so much and she so little. She'll work and be small and obscure with her chin high and her heart breaking. I'd hate to see that flamelike quality of hers burned out. It's rare and precious.

Pausing beside a lamp in the lobby, she read the time-table; there was a train at ten-fifty. Ten-fifty! There was so little time! Hurrying upstairs, she knocked on Ann's door and went in. Ann blinked and yawned.

* * *

"Ann, I'm leaving at ten-fifty," Carol said. Ann, still in bed, was wide awake at once "You were right," Carol went on very earnestly. "What am I waiting for now? I'm going to New York to Norman. I'm going to be the girl who is sitting on his doorstep tonight, the waiting bride-to-be. . . ."

"And I thought I was going to have such a quiet week. Now I'm all mixed up in a whirlwind romance. Okay, darling. I'll get dressed and we'll have breakfast together and I'll put you on the that train. In the meantime go downstairs and warm your toes by the fire in the lounge while I dress and think up what to give you for a wedding present. But it's just an exchange sort of thing, I warn you. You'll soon be buying me one—for Mrs. Penny. What a name! Go away! Don't stand there looking so beautiful and happy when I've just opened my eyes and I know I look awful! I'm jealous. . . ."

Smiling, Carol left her, and the portly matron she met on the stairs smiled back, no doubt thinking that Carol's early morning cheer was meant for her.

* * *

The lounge was a very large room furnished with beautiful though not uncomfortable antiques. A soft thick green rug covered the floor and a large log fire roared in the stone fireplace

With the timetable still in her hand, Carol went in, her steps quickened by the excitement within her, and so large was the room that she had advanced some distance across the deep rug before she stopped suddenly . . . the timetable fluttered from her hand.

Norman stood beside the fireplace. With a heavy brown shoe, he was shifting a fresh log into the blazing ones. Dressed in brown tweeds, a soft brown sweater beneath his coat, he seemed not to have hurried in out of the rain but to have been here, as she had been for days, taking long walks on mountain paths, his mind free and happy.

His calmness, his obvious enjoyment of simply watching a fire burn, she loved. He had known that she would come down to this room and he was not pacing the floor or looking at his watch or telephoning her room. He had been certain, too There were no doutbs or fears for him. Norman had come to her. Also he had come FOR her. . .

* * *

Ann came down then looking like a schoolgirl in a pink sweater and blue skirt but she came no closer than to the threshold of the lounge and there she stood quietly, not knowing whether to laugh or cry. They looked so absurd—Norman (she was certain it was he) unconscious of Carol's presence and Carol standing so still.

Turning away, Ann walked into the lobby and bought a newspaper, hoping that no one else would come down and seek the fire in the lounge. If some one did, she would hurry over and make conversation or pretend to turn her ankle or faint—or something.

Carol asked, her voice soft and warm. "Were you waiting for me?" and she thought: Not in his office interrupting his work, not on his doorstep like a refugee but here in this lovely room, a room I'll always remember and want to come back to. . . .

Norman turned from the blazing logs, his eyes taking in all of her. He didn't say anything at once, then said, "I've come for you—from Newton—and I almost got arrested until I told the cop I was in such a hurry. A romantic cop. He let me go. . . ."

* * *

His smile was almost shy but happy, incredibly happy. There was ardor in it, too, and appreciation and humility; all the things he had felt and thought during the long drive in the rain were in his smile before he came to her and took her in his arms.

"I didn't think I'd ever hold you like this darling, or say the thousand things I have to say to you. You can't explain love but there are a lot of ways to say it. ....I had a swell speech worked out last night when I was driving but holding you close like this makes me forget it....Is there any one else in the world this morning? I don't think so. Just us, darling, and somebody to make it legal Oh, yes, and Edwina and Dick Fenton waiting in New York to watch us make it legal. They say they won't be cheated. They want to be there. But you haven't said a word. Hey, you're not going to jilt me again, are you?"

"Did I before? I apologized for falling in love with you that day. That seems such a long time ago, doesn't it? It doesn't belong to now, Norman. None of that belongs to now."

"Except us!" He was like a boy now, excited and delighted. He was the Norman of the picnic, the Norman who had bribed an orchestra leader to prolong the dance with her, the Norman who had called her Aphrodite. Tilting her chin with his hand, he said, "Edwina won't break in on this! You're so lovely . . . I'm wound up like an eight-day clock. I've talked aloud to myself all the way here. 'She' won't have a white satin gown or whatever it is girls like to wear to be married in but she doesn't need it. She'll have orchids and a ticket to Hawaii' . . . We're going to Hawaii on our honeymoon in case you didn't know . . ."

"'And she'll have me, the lucky girl,' you said to yourself."

He laughed. "No! 'We'll have each other!' You're interrupting me . . . My business partners have been grand about it, though they did wag their heads sadly and asked, 'You getting married? That means we postpone our vacations! And we thought you went to Newton for your health!'"

"And father sent you here . . ."

"With his blessing—and your clothes. We all packed. Rosie, your father and I. Rosie cried, your father smiled a good deal and I made no sense at all. You'll find your clothes in a frightful state! But you can buy more on the way—in Chicago and Los Angeles and Honolulu. A national wardrobe. . ."

Suddenly he was serious. "Edwina told me about Alan. She told me everything. But I didn't know that your loyalty was no longer necessary until Alan stopped in New York. I didn't see him. He saw Dick before he went away. I don't know where he went. I didn't stop to ask. I made reservations on a ship going to Honolulu and I went to Newton—for you . . ."

"I was coming to you - today. I had a timetable. I knew we didn't have to wait any longer. . . . A friend is here with me. Let's go tell Ann . . ."

But Ann had fainted and the guests coming down to breakfast and the guests who had finished breakfast who ordinarily would have gone to the lounge for warmth and to read were grouped about her, fanning her, rubbing her wrists and looking quite perplexed. Some one said, "She seems to have a good pulse but she's certainly taking a long time to come out of it."

* * *

They were married that evening in the living room of Dick's apartment and there was nothing to indicate the haste with which the wedding had been arranged. The fragrance of many exquisite flowers mingled in the large attractive room where Carol, very fair and very lovely in a simple blue frock, stood with Norman before a clergyman.

Only Edwina and Dick were there and to Edwina it was a far more impressive occasion than the elaborate church weddings she had attended. Wearing a brown frock she had bought in Paris two years ago, she felt dwarfed not only by the bigness of Dick and Norman but also by the bigness of the occasion. Like Ann, she did not know whether she was going to laugh or cry . . . Her thoughts went beyond this rainy September night to the years ahead for Carol and Norman. And often her thoughts of them were halted by the familiarity of the words she was hearing and she remembered her clear, quick, eager responses to the same questions . . . Now she felt on the outside looking in, like a hungry child with her nose pressed against a candy store window.

On the outside looking in . . . But the ceremony was over and Carol's radiant face turned to her. Norman, smiling now and happy, and handsomer than ever, gave her a resounding kiss and shook Dick's hand vigorously and soon everybody was talking at once and toasts were drunk and Carol, wearing the silver fox jacket that Edwina had bought for her that day and charged to Norman, and Norman were running through the rain again to Dick's car with Edwina and Dick following . . .

LEAVE IT TO A HUSBAND
to appreciate Pillsbury's Best baking!

"The first time I baked with Pillsbury's Best, my husband noticed the difference" says Mrs. Frank Graff of Chicago, Illinois

". . . when I was first married, I wasn't satisfied with the baking I was doing. So I tried Pillsbury's Best in some simple cupcakes . . . the kind of food where you can really tell how a flour acts. Those cupcakes came out fine . . . so light and delicate. My husband noticed the difference, and said to keep on using Pillsbury's Best. I have, and I use it for everything . . ."

GUARANTEED
For everything you bake; every time you bake
Pillsbury's Best Flour is made from a "balanced" blend of wheats and has our money-back guarantee to give you perfect satisfaction in everything you bake . . . bread, cakes, biscuits, pastry . . . every time you use it.

You men who pay the bills might like to read this: Do you know that every year we reject—refuse to buy—hundreds of thousands of bushels of wheat? We wish you could see the results of the baking tests we run on that wheat, as compared with the results from the fine wheats we do buy for Pillsbury's Best Flour. If you could, you'd begin to understand why the baking your wife does with Pillsbury's Best is better . . . and you'd see exactly why she's telling you the truth when she says "good flour is real economy in the long run."

Thousands of happy husbands are carrying Pillsbury's Best home from the grocery store every week. Why don't you join them?

Women's fine silk hose, silverware, watches, coffee makers, cast aluminum ware, and a host of other fine items are yours in exchange for Pillsbury THRIFT STARS. These Stars are packed in every bag of Pillsbury's Best and also come with other Pillsbury products. AIRPLANES HELP FOREST SERVICE

Bales of Seedlings Fall From Sky to Workers In Remote Areas.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Shakespeare and his "moving" Birnam woods was a comparative piker to the workers of the United States forest service who now can boast forests that fly.

Inspired with the success obtained in flying supplies to forest fire fighters, foresters have conducted tests in which bales of seedlings are dropped with and without parachutes in remote areas where forest service workers pick them up and plant them in burned over areas.

Aerial transportation of young trees, foresters point out, will save cost of opening truck routes into the wild reaches of national forests.

If such a program, now in its experimental stage, becomes a part of the reforestation program, much labor will be saved in transporting and planting millions of trees.

This year's planting, which called for 6,000,000 trees in the national forests of Idaho and Montana alone, will require 400 workers to do the planting in a two month period.

More than two-thirds of the seedlings, were made up of yellow pine, 1,600,000 white pine, 300,000 spruce and 50,000 cedars.

ARMY SCHOOLS PROVIDED FOR ENLISTED MEN

Opportunity to Learn Trade Given Soldiers Through Various Courses.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Men enlisting in the army now have the opportunity to learn a trade or to attend one of the numerous schools conducted by the Army, Col. L. B. Magruder, recruiting officer for the Second Corps Area declared here.

Responding to the many queries submitted to recruiting canvassers, the Colonel said:

"As the Army seeks volunteers to fill its expanding ranks the war department announced that it instituted on July 1st intensive courses of not to exceed three months in its various special service schools for enlisted soldiers so that key soldiers may be trained to take their places in newly formed units.

"The Infantry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery, Cavalry, Signal Corps, Quartermaster Corps, Medical Department, Ordnance Engineers and other arms and branches have such schools.

"Men who qualify as specialists may secure ratings as such that bring additional compensation.

In the Infantry, courses include training for tank mechanics, motor mechanics, communications for rifle and tank units. In the Field Artillery training in motor mechanics, communications, battery mechanics, horseshoers and saddlers is offered. Medical Department Training.

In the Medical Department, hospital cooks, laboratory technicians, X-Rays, pharmacy, orthopedic bracemakers, dental technicians, veterinary technicians and sanitary technicians are trained.

In the Ordinance Department special work is given to armorers, artillery mechanics, automotive mechanics, instrument repairmen, machinists, munition workers and welders.

The Quartermaster Corps has specialized school in motor maintenance, allied motor trades, supply, pail and water transportation, construction and utilities.

ONE IN 250,000

CINCINNATI—(INS)—"One in 250,000" is the description surgeons gave to 14-year-old Harley Busam. Taken to a hospital for an appendectomy, an examination disclosed that Harley's heart was on the right side of his chest, his appendix on the left side of the abdominal cavity and all other internal organs transposed. Surgeons said such cases probably occur not more than once in 250,000.
